FORMER SURROGATE JUDGE HARRY H. FLEMMING

Funeral Tuesday at 2 P.M.

Judge Flemming Dies After Short Illness

Former Surrogate Judge Harry H. Flemming, a practicing attorney for 56 years, civic leader and banker, died Saturday night at Kingston Hospital after an illness of less than a week. He was 84.

Judge Flemming was the father of Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Columbus, O., former director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, who is to rejoin President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Old Artillery Shell Is Found in Barn

A badly corroded 75 millimeter shell found in a barn on the Ronald J. Brown Restaurant property, 169 Abel Street, Saturday was removed from there to the state armory, Manor Avenue, headquarters of local units of the 156th Field Artillery.

Stalls were being removed from the barn when the shell was found. No one knows how it got there.

Officers Meyer Levy and Frank Monte were sent to the barn after police headquarters was notified and they advised that the shell, about a foot long and four inches in diameter, because of corrosion, should be removed by a person familiar with explosives. Walter Bundy, of Columbia Street, Town of Ulster, was called from the armory and brought it there.

again August 1 as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Dr. Flemming, his sister, Elizabeth, now Mrs. Donald J. Sherbondy of Pittsburgh, Pa., and their families were in Kingston at the time of Judge Flemming's death having arrived several days ago to spend Father's Day with him and Mrs. Flemming, the former Harriet Sherwood whom he married in 1902. Mrs. Flemming's father was the late Rev. Henry W. Sherwood, who was pastor of Wurts Street Baptist Church.

Survivors besides the widow, son and daughter are a brother, Thomas W. Flemming and a sister, Miss Anna Flemming, both of this city, also seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral Tuesday
Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in St. James Methodist Church, with burial in Montrose Cemetery. Friends may call at the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl Street, tonight between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Judge Flemming was one of the area's most prominent civic leaders having served in several appointive offices in city government prior to being elected as Ulster County surrogate in 1939, a position he held until 1944.

Although still as vigorous as a man much younger, the judge gave up the post upon reaching the age of 70, the retirement age specified by state law.

7 Locals Waiting For Terms Biggest Projects May Be Left Idle

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Iron workers from seven locals across the state failed to show up for work today as they met to discuss a formal strike called for tomorrow.

The strike would idle an estimated 30,000 workers on most major construction in Upstate New York.

A spokesman here said today's walkout was not a strike but that the workers attending the meeting would not show up at their jobs at all today.

May Place Pickets
Norman Swanson, business agent for the Rochester local and member of the union's negotiating committee, declined any comment on the strike, but it was believed that the union plans to put out pickets tomorrow if today's stoppage fails to bring a settlement. A spokesman said he expected other construction workers to respect picket lines.

Would Halt Big Projects
The strike would halt work on the $625,000,000 Niagara power project and on highway, school, hospital, industrial and commercial jobs from Saugerties in Ulster County north and west to the Canadian border.

Not affected would be the Buffalo and Southwestern New York area, the area of south Saugerties and the St. Lawrence Seaway project. Separate contracts have been signed.

Represent 2,000 Men
The seven locals of the International Assn. of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers that are involved have headquarters in Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Binghamton, Elmira, Rochester and Niagara Falls. They represent 2,000 ironworkers.

Joseph W. Sweet, president of the Rochester local and spokesman for the upstate Council, said the men have been working without a contract since May 31. Each local has been negotiating with the employer group in its area.

Seek 25-Cent Raise
Sweet said the union seeks a raise of 25 cents an hour. The current scale is $3.50. He said negotiations with the Rochester employers is scheduled for tomorrow morning.

After June 20 Tax Penalty in Force

City Treasurer Orrie R. Richl today issued a reminder that the second half payment period of general taxes with two per cent penalty from June 1 to June 20 is due to end.

On and after June 21, he emphasized a five per cent penalty and a $1 fee for issuance of notice will be charged. He also advised that checks should be drawn to the order of the Treasurer, City of Kingston, and that receipts will not be returned under 10 days if the check is not certified. No receipt will be returned unless the tax bill accompanies payment.

The city treasurer's office is open daily from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., exception on Monday when closing time is 6 p. m. It is closed Saturdays.

New York Bill Paid For Adams: Probers

Produce Records
A subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) produced records that Goldfine picked up a Waldorf-Astoria tab of $47.50 for Adams on one occasion in 1954.

In February of the same year, subcommittee investigator Francis X. McLaughlin testified, Goldfine footed a $219.65 bill for Adams and Mrs. Adams at the Waldorf.

Other Payments
Previously the subcommittee had reported frequent stays by Adams at a Boston hotel where Goldfine paid the bills, Adams has said he was under the impression Goldfine kept permanent hotel rooms there.

However, critics point to records showing Adams' stays there were in different suites at different times.

After All Facts
Harris had promised to "develop all the facts we can" as a major political storm mounted around Adams. He summoned present and former heads of the Federal Trade Commission to determine whether the agency gave special treatment to Goldfine, Boston industrialist and old friend of Adams.

Adams has acknowledged that he frequently stayed in an expensive Boston hotel suite for which Goldfine paid. He also has said he made two contacts with FTC officials on Goldfine's behalf. But President Eisenhower's top aide has branded as "unwarranted and unfair" what he called insinuations.

Keresman's View
Said Keresman: "There long has been public urge to end the delay in lifting from the police department the fog caused by culprits, who should never have been appointed to the force."

Lebanon Exodus Is On Rebel Stand Bloody, Americans Leave

BEIRUT (AP) — American families had the go-ahead to move out of Lebanon today as the anti-government rebels kept up a determined, bloody stand before U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld arrival to direct his international team of observers.

Bitter fighting broke out in the capital Saturday and continued Sunday until government security forces pinned down the insurgents in their strongholds at the center of Beirut. Heavy shooting stopped by noon, but sporadic firing and bombing were heard the rest of the day.

In the gravest warning to Americans in the Middle East since the 1956 Suez crisis, the U. S. Embassy offered free transportation out of the strife-torn country to dependents of embassy staff members. The 5,000 other Americans in Beirut were urged to stay off the streets.

So far no foreigners have been hurt in the month-old rebellion against President Camille Chamoun's pro-Western government, which charges the insurgents have been directed by President Nas-

Count Laborers' Votes Today

A total of 1,120 members cast their ballots Sunday to elect officers of Local 17, International Laborers and Hodcarriers, for the year 1958-59.

Votes were still being counted when The Freeman went to press.

Voting was held in three places — Kingston, Newburgh and Liberty. In Kingston the balloting took place in the local offices, 227 Fair Street.

Figures Not Given
Tabulation of the Kingston vote had been completed late this morning but no figures were released. The results will be announced with the completion of the count in all three polling areas.

It was reported that the tabulation will probably continue until late this afternoon.

A total of 242 votes was cast in Kingston, 333 in Liberty and 545 in Newburgh.

List of Candidates
The following candidates are seeking election:

President — Ralph "Cappy" Diorio and George Ficarra.

Vice-president — Peter Maniscalco and Joseph "Palmer" Palmieri.

Recording secretary — Charles McCann and Frank Monaco.

Financial secretary — treasurer and business representative — Joseph Becker and Harold Ostrander.

Sergeant-at-arms — Charles Mayone and Robert "Tiny" Oliver.

Trustees — Frank DeRobertis, Sidney Mastro, Adolph "Otto" Palmieri, Louis Matarazzo and

Unions Ask Contract, Won't Sail

11,700 Engineers, Seamen Involved

NEW YORK (AP)—Two maritime unions struck today, refusing to sail without contracts.

The walkout of 1,700 engineers and 10,000 unlicensed tanker seamen could tie up nearly 700 American-flag ships operating out of East and Gulf Coast ports.

The striking unions, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and the National Maritime Union, said negotiations would pick up again later in the day. Meanwhile, they said, "no contract, no sailing."

The engineers are employed on 448 dry cargo and passenger ships, the 10,000 seamen on 231 oil tankers.

More Berthed in N. Y.
There is no large passenger ship berthed in New York now and none is expected to sail before Wednesday. The walkouts do not affect ships at sea.

The Marine Engineers struck after the union rejected a contract offer by the Dry Cargo and Passenger Ship Operators.

Strike Unexpected
The strike by the tanker seamen was unexpected. The NMU had tentatively approved a three-year contract covering about 30,000 unlicensed seamen employed on the dry cargo and passenger ships.

Another maritime union, the American Radio Assn., representing 500 operators, reached agreement on a new contract with the American Merchant Marine Institute, representing the employers.

The settlement came after an all-night bargaining session. Terms were not immediately disclosed. Under the old contract the radiomen received $569 monthly for a 40-hour work week.

All contracts expired last midnight. The Engineers' contract with the tankers runs until next year.

4 Points at Issue
The Engineers' negotiations broke down over four major items, the union said. They were:

Increases in retirement pensions from $100 to $250 a month; increases in paid vacations, "substantial" wage increases and a clause providing that if an operator sells or transfers his ship the MEBA contract must follow the ship or the operator must pay one year's severance pay.

Engineers pay ranges from $493 a month for junior engineers to $1,052 for chief engineers.

Four Take Test for Plumbing Inspector

Four applicants for the position of plumbing inspector took a civil service test Saturday to establish an eligibility list for permanent appointment to the post.

The position is held provisionally by C. Lester Legg, who was among those taking the test in the municipal building, East O'Reilly Street, Saturday.

Ten applicants are due to take a test June 1 to establish a list for appointments to the fire department. No vacancies exist, but the list will be available for future use.

Another test will be held June 28 to establish a list to fill positions in the public works department. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Stratford Yankees Win Pageant, 10,000 Attend

The Connecticut Yankees, of Stratford, Conn., captured their second successive championship at the fourth annual Pageant of Champions, sponsored by the Port Ewen Drum and Bugle Corps, before more than 10,000 persons at Dietz Stadium on Saturday evening.

In the most glittering musical spectacular of the pageant's four-year history, the Connecticut corps edged the Yankee-Rebels of Baltimore, Md.

The Connecticut Yankees compiled a total of 85.25 points in their first-place finish, while the Maryland corps scored 83.75 points in second place.

The Morristown (N. J.) Colonials were third with 80.40 points. A Newark, N. J., corps, the Carver Gay Blades, making their first appearance in the pageant, scored 77.50 to finish fourth. The Cohoes Grenadiers were fifth with 74.65 points.

A capacity crowd which started filling into the stadium as early as 5 p. m. witnessed a pulsating marching and maneuvering event featuring nine drum and bugle corps representing four states.

More than 500 marching musicians participated.

Exhibitions were presented by the Colonial Cadets, the junior unit of the Port Ewen corps—the Colonial Cavaliers. Also on exhibition were the Connecticut Hurricanes, of Shelton, Conn., and the Hawthorne Cavaliers, of Hawthorne, N. J., winners of the first pageant four years ago.

The Colonial Cavaliers also presented an exhibition before the retreat in which the nine corps formed a breath-taking panorama of colorful uniforms and sparkling instruments.

Commander George Beichert, Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, which was represented by the host corps, presented the first-place trophy to the Stratford unit. Dick McCarthy was the announcer for the pageant.

Harriman Accuses GOP of 'Big Lie'; Hall Continues To Pick Up Support

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — While confident Democrats flailed the Republicans on many issues, Leonard W. Hall picked up a bit more support over the weekend in his quest for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

The Democrats' stage was in Syracuse, a two-day political institute sponsored by the Young Democrats division of the party's state committee.

Their siege gun was Gov. Harriman, who accused the GOP of using the "big lie" to belittle his highway program. Harriman, who is running for another four-year term in November, declared:

"The Republican leaders know they haven't a real issue in the campaign. So they're already resorting to the big lie technique."

Hall won the support of the Rensselaer County chairman, Sheriff Douglas Hudson of Troy. Rensselaer is the home county of Dean P. Taylor, a Republican national committeeman and pal of Hall's. The county's 17 delegates would be organized in Williams' behalf. At least one other group of Williams backers has been formed.

Harriman, in his Syracuse speech Saturday night, said the value of state highway contracts outstanding had grown from 220 million dollars in January 1957 to 436 million at present.

Some Republicans claim that the state, under Harriman, has not taken full advantage of federal aid for highways. Much of this fire has come from Republican Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester, who has eyes on his party's U. S. Senate nomination.

Keating was in Caroga Lake Saturday, addressing the Fulton County Women's Republican Club.

He said Harriman had a "fixation" on using the governorship as a stepping stone to the White House.

"This White House fever," Keating asserted, "has led him to ignore problems within his own state or take actions which look well on the national scene" but ran contrary to the interests of the state.

are sure to be in Hall's corner. This would give Hall a total of 163 delegates, if all follow their leaders. This compares with 194 in hand for Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and 93 for Nelson A. Rockefeller. It takes 586 to be nominated.

Hudson said Hall carried the "experience and leadership" the state needed and would conduct the "militant campaign" necessary to bring the GOP home a winner.

Hall will address the county organization July 1 in Troy.

From out in Columbus, Ohio, came support for U. S. Atty. Paul Williams, a far outsider in the GOP gubernatorial dash.

Richard West, a New York City banker visiting in Columbus, said Saturday he was organizing a campaign to put "a good Republican into the New York State governor's chair."

West, chairman of the board of the Irving Trust Co., said he called 20 men together in New York last week and asked them to back Williams. He said a committee of 50 men and women

Bridges Urges Time Limit on Reciprocal Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) today joined Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) in a drive to limit to three years the extension of the reciprocal trade law.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said in an interview he will not go along with a House-passed five-year extension which President Eisenhower has asked Congress to approve.

Not Taking Chances

"The present Republican administration will be in power another 2 1/2 years," Bridges said. "Nobody knows what will happen in the 1960 elections and I see no reason for taking any chances and extending this authority for five years."

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Saturday Eisenhower wants the five-year extension voted by the House, and will continue to work for passage of the bill in that form. He apparently will need strong support from Democrats.

As approved by the House, the bill would provide optional methods for tariff regulation by which the President could cut rates by as much as 10 per cent in any year's period but not more than 25 per cent over five years. Any rate now more than half of the value of a product could be reduced to 50 per cent.

Einemann Alone For Schick: Reid

Rosendale's delegation will not support John J. Schick for district attorney nomination at the Democratic county convention Tuesday, according to Joseph Reid, chairman.

Schick, special city judge of the City of Kingston, has made no public declaration to the press, but he is a "probable candidate" according to Attorney William A. Kelly, county Democratic leader.

Reid said today that he has commitments from eight of the town's nine delegates to support another candidate besides Schick, who he charges was an enrolled Republican last November prior to election.

Reid said he passed out enrollment records at last week's town caucus showing Schick was an enrolled Republican in the second district of the Second ward.

William Einemann, Democratic town chairman in Rosendale, said the action was no part of the official caucus. He issued a statement that an Ulster County election official told him Schick was an enrolled Democrat.

Reid's stand is "don't need a Republican running for district attorney on the Democratic ticket." He said today that Einemann, if he votes for Schick at the convention tomorrow night, will be the only delegate doing so.

Woman Dead On Deyo Street Called Suicide

Eva Ann White, 69, wife of Palmer J. White, of 60 Deyo Street, was found dead there by her husband shortly after 12 p. m. today. Coroner Francis J. McCord issued a verdict of suicide by hanging. She had used a piece of rope and part of a sheet, which she had put over a section of a living room door and stepped from a chair. Her husband found her there when he returned home for lunch from the Kingston Coal Co., where he is employed.

Mrs. White, the coroner said, had been under the care of a doctor for a nervous condition for some time, and was said to have been despondent during the past two days. Mrs. Anna Rost, a daughter, who lives in New Jersey, besides her husband, is the only immediate member of the family surviving.

Funeral arrangements by Jensen & Deegan, 15 Downs Street, will be announced.

Judge Flemming

lished a book of all opinions he had handed down while in office. In the foreword he said, "There is no guarantee of justice except the personality of the judge."

Devoted to Education

He was devoted to the educational life of the city and in his younger years was one of the leaders in Young Men's Christian Association here.

Throughout his life, Judge Flemming was an active member of the Methodist Church having been associated with both Trinity and St. James Methodist Churches.

An eloquent speaker, the judge was in great demand on church, historic and patriotic occasions as well as in the political field. His courage ranked with his integrity.

The judge, a son of the late Robert W. and Elizabeth Flemming was born February 13, 1874, in the Rondout section of Kingston. He was educated in local public schools, including old Ulster Academy. In 1891 he was graduated from that institution of learning conducted in the building which is Public School No. 2.

A studious, ambitious youngster, his ambition was to become an attorney, but circumstances compelled him to seek employment after graduation. There was a job available at the shops of the former Ulster & Delaware Railroad on East Strand. He took it.

From shop clerk, young Flemming advanced to paymaster, then became secretary to the general superintendent. His ambition to become a lawyer was stronger than ever, and he transferred to the Law Department of the railroad to gain a background for his chosen career.

Loved Profession

Enrollment at Albany Law School was next. In 1902 Flemming received his LL. B. degree, and was admitted to the New York State Bar the same year. From then on he loved every day of his professional activities as a lawyer and kept up general practice until he was stricken last Wednesday.

He was general counsel for the Ulster & Delaware Railroad before it was purchased by the New York Central Railroad and after that served as legal representative for the Central in this area. Judge Flemming also was counsel for the former Cornell Steamboat Company and served as trial counsel for Aetna Insurance Company. He had also served as a member of a panel of the State Minimum Wage Board.

Leaders in the legal profession and in civic life often referred to Judge Flemming as a "self-made man", and pointed him out as a true example of what accomplishments can be attained by an ambitious man willing to work hard for the opportunities offered by the American way of life.

Past President of Bar

Judge Flemming had wide experience as a practitioner in the county, state and federal courts. He was recognized as an outstanding trial lawyer before juries and had the distinction of arguing cases with rare success in the Appellate Division and in the Court of Appeals.

The judge was a past president of the Bar Association of Ulster County, and past treasurer of the Federation of the Bar Associations of the Third Judicial District.

Judge Flemming was a former corporation counsel for the City of Kingston over a period of five years. When the present local school board, 14 of which he was its president; was a member of the Kingston Water Board and also served as its president.

Had Community at Heart

Even when he was not serving officially in local government his interests always were for the welfare of the community. His counsel was often sought by those holding public office, who had high regard for his advice.

Judge Flemming found time to devote himself to philanthropic projects. He was a member of the board of trustees of Kingston Hospital for a number of years, serving as president and treasurer. When the present YMCA building was built at Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue, he was president of the board of directors, and sparked the campaign that made the edifice a reality with its various facilities for young people of the community.

Influenced Youth

The judge, always cherished his affiliation with the YMCA, feeling that it gave him an opportunity to be close to the youngsters growing into the citizens of the future. Many leaders in various fields today have said on occasions that his influence and guidance helped them.

They considered him an inspiration in getting them started.

Judge Flemming had been president of the Rondout Savings Bank, 26 Broadway, since 1935. During his presidency, the bank enjoyed steady growth and has become outstanding in particular as possessing the highest percentage of surplus to deposits among the saving banks of the state.

The bank is the only one in the downtown section of Kingston, an area in which Judge Flemming has always held near and dear to his heart, as he used to say.

When a proposal was made in the Ulster County Board of Supervisors to erect a new county office building, Judge Flemming favored the Sixth Ward, downtown, as the locale. "There is ample space," he said, "a part of which is now vacant and the remaining needs can be acquired at a reasonable cost. Such a move would accommodate the lawyers and others far better than the locations heretofore suggested in the extreme limits of the city."

Mark Twain wrote several of his books while residing in New York State.

Girls' State Set June 20 to 28 at New Paltz Campus

The 17th annual session of Empire Girls' State sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of New York, will be held at State University Teachers' College, New Paltz, June 20 to 28, under the direction of Mrs. James A. Cunningham, Laureton, department president and honorary chairman, Mrs. Harold H. Taylor, Glen Cove, chairman, and James Matthews, Kingston, political instructor.

Girls who will attend Empire Girls' State are sponsored by one or more organized groups from their home communities or counties. The Girls' State program is one of education and practical Americanism. During sessions the girls will organize two political parties and elect their own governor and other state officials, including judges, members of the legislature, and city officials all in accordance with New York law. They will organize their legislative, introduce, debate and pass bills. On June 27 they will go to Albany where the governor and other state officials will be sworn in at a public inauguration in the State Capitol.

During their stay at New Paltz the girls will have an opportunity to meet a number of important officials—city, county and state—who will speak on duties and functions of their specific offices. The names of these speakers and when they will be in New Paltz will be announced.

Menshikov Back To Moscow, Will Return Shortly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov was flying back to Moscow today, perhaps to report on the progress of his hail-fellow-well-met brand of diplomacy here.

Without any advance public notice, Menshikov left New York yesterday aboard a Scandinavian Airlines plane which landed early today in Copenhagen. He then switched to a Soviet airliner.

A Soviet Embassy official, who confirmed his departure, said Menshikov was summoned home on what the official called a "temporary official mission." The embassy aide said Menshikov is expected to return to Washington within a few days—"a couple of weeks at the outside." The official said he could not give the precise reason for the call home.

Wife Remains

Mrs. Menshikov was said to have remained here while her husband made the trip to Moscow—his first since taking over as ambassador to the United States last Feb. 6.

Embassy officials said the State Department and other embassies in Washington were informed that Menshikov was returning briefly.

However, the first public word that Menshikov had left Washington came when Scandinavian Airlines sent New York newspapers and press associations pictures of the Soviet envoy boarding a plane at New York International Airport.

25,000 Canada Words Differ From English

EDMONTON, Alta., (AP)—Canada is making up a dictionary of the Canadian language. Already a list of 25,000 words and usages which differ from the Queen's English and the American brand has been compiled.

Announcement of the project was made to a recent meeting of the Canadian Linguistic Society by Dr. M. H. Scargill of the English department at the University of Alberta, where the work will be centered. He said the job would take two to three more years.

"Our job is to discover, not to decide," he said. "We want to find out from Canadians what they talk about, what things are peculiar to Canada and Canadians."

Dr. Scargill cited these examples of typically Canadian words and word combinations:

Splake—A hybrid game fish developed in Jasper National Park by crossing speckled trout with lake trout.

Banker—Used in Newfoundland to designate a man who fishes on the Grand Banks.

Separate school—Known in Britain as a Catholic school and in the United States as a parochial school.

Digby chicken—Herring.

Intellectuals Great Pioneers, Speaker Says

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP)—Dr. C. W. De Kiewiet said at Northwestern University's 100th commencement today that "such an opening has been blasted in the frontiers of knowledge that the intellectual pioneer in the history of the nation."

The president of the University of Rochester and the Assn. of American Universities addressed 2,506 students receiving degrees and diplomas, and their relatives and guests.

Among the 16 presidents and chancellors of major private universities awarded honorary degrees was Frank Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, Montreal.

Newburgh Man Is Injured in Surf Dive Into Pacific

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Fred Hoffman, 50, of Newburgh, N. Y., was in critical condition today, his spine fractured in two places from a dive into the Pacific surf.

Hoffman is paralyzed from the neck down, aides at a hospital here said.

A life guard pulled Hoffman from the surf after he apparently struck bottom while diving Saturday. Hoffman told the rescuer he remembered nothing after diving.

Survey in India Shows Beggars Do Better Than Labor

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A recent survey by Agra University shows that beggars make more money than workers in India—at least they do in the Indian city of Lucknow.

The study of 150 beggars in Lucknow brought out that the average beggar income was 18.2 annas (about 25 cents) a day. The average industrial or agricultural worker in the same area makes 17.5 annas a day.

Even so, Dr. Chandi Prasad, who supervised the study, concluded that the reason for the prevalence of begging in India is rooted as much in a lack of social security measures as in poverty. The lack of land, jobs and future prospects sometimes sends whole families into the streets with begging bowls.

The committee recommended the adoption of social welfare programs to end the begging trade. It said legislation would be of little use, that the very philosophy of begging will have to be changed, since most beggars believe destiny has ordained that they be parasites.

Glamor on Wane

NEW YORK (AP)—Familiarity and acting fads are destroying theatrical glamor, says Chester Morris.

The veteran star of "Blue Denim," a current Broadway hit, recalls things were a lot different when he began acting 40 years ago. "The public's interest in players' personal lives has spoiled the glamor," he says. "In the old days a star just couldn't be married or have a family, as far as the public was concerned."

"Another deglamorizing trend is this school of natural acting. The guys who do it look filthy, and they are."

Can't Stand Prosperity

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—Walter A. Todd, 64, can't give up working.

Todd retired in March as head of Hawaii County automotive and equipment division after working for the county for 44 years. Now, he offers to work without pay if the county will give him back his job.

"You have to do something," says Todd. "I enjoy fishing and hunting, but there's a limit to that."

Railroad Club Show Scheduled October 12 - 19

The annual public exhibition of the miniature railroad system owned and operated by the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. will be held from October 12 through October 19, 1958.

Announcement of the annual show dates was made by Walter Phillips, president of the 21-year-old railroad club.

The exhibit will be held at the clubhouse located at the end of Susan Street, adjacent to the New York Central freight house. It is open to the public during the October dates for a small admission price, and features the operation of a complete miniature railroad system scaled one-quarter inch to the foot.

On display will be railroad equipment in miniature showing the growth of the nation's railroads, along with line-side scenery depicting various industries, villages, and metropolitan scenes. Many thousands of people have visited the ever-growing railroad system during past years, and hundreds of persons interested in photography have found the local club's efforts a fine target for the lens of their cameras.

The three largest cities in Germany are Berlin, Hamburg and Munich.

JUDGE HARRY H. FLEMMING

A notable career of 56 years in the practice of law, which upheld the highest standards of that profession, came to a close Saturday evening with the death of Former Surrogate Judge Harry H. Fleming.

For sustained effort and unremitting activity, Judge Fleming's distinguished career at the bar and on the bench was most exceptional. He observed the exacting code of his profession, which he loved and lived as one who loved it only can live it.

Judge Fleming was highly respected by lawyers and litigants alike for the expeditious manner in which he handled cases entrusted to him, becoming absorbed in them to the point of sacrificing what are considered many of the ordinary comforts of life.

A native of Kingston, Judge Fleming was educated in local public schools. His ambition was to become a lawyer. Circumstances compelled him to seek employment, however, and he secured a job with the Ulster & Delaware Railroad here. He advanced from shop clerk to secretary to the general superintendent.

Determined to enter the legal profession, he transferred to the law department of the railroad to study for his chosen career. Enrollment at Albany Law School followed and he was admitted to the bar in 1902.

As a young lawyer his capabilities earned him the distinction of arguing cases before the State Court of Appeals, an assignment usually reserved for more experienced members of the bar.

For the past 56 years he engaged in general practice dealing with all types of legal problems. Trial work took him to the state and federal courts, where he gained recognition as one of the outstanding lawyers of the east.

His fellow members of the bar in recognition of his talents and service to the profession named him president of the Ulster County Bar Association and also treasurer of the Federation of the Bar Associations of the Third Judicial District.

His public career included the offices of corporation counsel of the City of Kingston and Judge of the Surrogate Court of Ulster County. He served these offices with distinction and in the same honorable, kindly and conscientious manner in which he conducted his private practice. He was faithful in this and in all other ways to the finest tradition of the profession.

Besides his self-made success in the law, Judge Fleming had a long and devoted career in public service during which he furnished leadership that helped individuals, schools and other institutions and the community in general.

Finding time to devote himself to municipal affairs, Judge Fleming served on the Kingston Board of Education. For 14 years he was president of that board. He also served as president of the Kingston Board of Water Commissioners. He had a profound interest in the Kingston Hospital and for many years served both as president and treasurer of the board of managers.

When the YMCA here was built Judge Fleming was president of the board of directors. The judge was a firm believer in the organization's program of developing character as well as healthy bodies and always found time in his youthful years to devote himself to its welfare.

Possessed with rare insight, Judge Fleming's counsel was sought by many people in all walks of life. One of his many virtues was that of loyalty to his family, friends, his community and its people. He was one of Rondout's staunchest supporters.

As president of the Rondout Savings Bank, he considered his work as an instrument for public service of the self-effacing kind and the expansion and growth of this financial institution is further testimony of his executive ability.

Exemplifying the highest ideals of citizenship, he will be missed by his associates

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
LAWYERS' CLINICS

Physicians and surgeons learn their business not only at college but also in clinics and as assistants to older men. It used to be that most journalists started as printers' devils or office boys or copy boys and then worked their way up through various grades and experiences until, in their middle years, when they knew something and could restrain their fingers, they got a responsible position. Lawyers used to read law in the offices of their elders and learned the law business by practice and experience as well as by reading the books. That is before the case system was discovered.

Along comes Judge Robert S. Marx, Professor of Law in the University of Cincinnati, and asks some questions about this training. He says:

"... the practical aspect of the problem confronting the law student is that it will be several years after graduation before he will be called upon to argue cases in an appellate court. His first experience will be in the trial court. Here the law is usually reasonably clear and well settled. On the other hand, the facts in the trial court are not agreed or assumed but are always in controversy. Hence, the success or failure of the young lawyer depends upon the care and diligence with which he has gathered and assembled the facts and the evidence and his skill in presenting these at the trial. Unfortunately, the majority of our law schools have done little to give a realistic education to the young lawyer in this all important field of getting the facts, marshaling the evidence, and trying the case to a court or jury. Most law students graduate without having had any practical legal experience in the laboratories of the law similar to the experience which medical students receive in medical laboratories and hospitals."

This is very true. Fact-gathering and fact-finding are difficult ordeals. Facts are elusive. For instance, I know of a person whose statement of facts I occasionally have to check. Whereas there is always a basis for what he says, nothing is precisely so. Most often he reports plausible rumors. Sometimes, he becomes conscious of his lack of precise data and feeling obliged to say something when called upon, he employs ingenuity. But ingenuity does not establish a fact.

The middle of the 19th century was characterized by a compulsive search for facts. As a result there was a vast accumulation of detailed knowledge in every field, which scientists, particularly the Germans, classified and catalogued and indexed. The philosophers revolted against mere discovery and cataloguing and devoted themselves to systematizing knowledge into thought. This battle between the labelers and the thinkers has continued to this day in learned circles. But by now, there are so many precise facts to know that college entrance examinations are given in the form of questions that can be answered by underlining words and filling in blocks, and the papers can be marked by an IBM machine. Thinking therefore is unnecessary. In fact, guessing can be a sure guide to success even that memory. It is like roulette and the player's luck is a factor.

Judge Samuel Leibowitz of Brooklyn said on this subject:

"There are six famous law schools in New York City, all of them a short distance from the largest court system in the world, federal, state and municipal. Do any of the Professors take their students to these courtrooms—laboratories where the abstract principles of law they teach . . . are applied in actual 'live' cases. . . ."

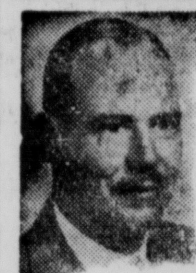

Judge Marx defines his terms accurately and precisely:

"... By a course on Facts I do not mean a course on evidence. Evidence deals with what is admissible or competent, or relevant. A course on Facts deals with the truth regardless of the rules of evidence, and the truth does not vary, whether the case is civil or criminal or is based on law or equity. . . ."

It is amazing how many successful men fear facts. For instance, Cyrus Eaton is pacifistic. He fails to grasp the meaning of Soviet imperialism. All that he knows is that war is evil. He underwrites peace but not freedom.

On the other hand, if he were capable of understanding the sinister nature of the Soviet Union, he would devote himself to the policies of Secretary of State Dulles rather than to those of Nikita Khrushchev.

Travel Has Nothing To Do With Curious
'Geographic Tongue'
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

An interesting condition is the subject of today's first inquiry.

Q—Please explain the cause and treatment of "geographic tongue."—Mrs. D. J.

A—This is a peculiar kind of coating of the tongue in which furring on the surface is arranged in a manner which looks like a geographic map with ridges and valleys. Its cause is not known, but it is not a reflection of any serious disease.

It tends to persist, but does not lead to any complications. Treatment is unsatisfactory, also unnecessary, except for general measures aimed at maintaining the health of the tissues inside the mouth.

Q—Would you say something about the treatment of dermatitis herpetiformis?—Mrs. E. K.

A—This is a strange skin disease which tends to burn itself out in 10 or 20 years. Some of the sulfa drugs have been used with considerable success. Cortisone, or its relatives, have also had some recent favor and other preparations are sometimes used.

Q—Would you consider that slight bleeding in the area from which a tonsil has been removed lasting for about a year could be evidence of cancer?—M. E.

A—It is possible but unlikely. However, such a symptom should never be neglected. The area should be carefully examined and corrective measures undertaken.

Q—Can you supply information concerning trichomonas infection?—Mrs. G.

A—This is a common disorder resulting from a tiny parasite. There is still considerable difference of opinion and lack of knowledge about the human effects. The parasite can frequently be found in certain of the genital organs of women and to a lesser extent of men, but often, even when found, symptoms are absent.

A satisfactory cure is not available. A great many different measures are used but recurrences of the disease are common.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS—Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

among whom his presence was both an inspiration from the past and a stimulant for the future.

It would be impossible to estimate the influence he wielded or to list the accomplishments he helped bring into reality in the city and county.

Judge Fleming's death is a distinct loss to the community.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

It was Lone Eagle Charles A. Lindbergh who opened the opportunity for the late Dr. Robert H. Goddard to become the godfather of American missile men.

This was revealed by Dr. Goddard's widow, Mrs. Esther C. Goddard, in Washington for the first Goddard Memorial Award dinner.

"Lindy" came to Worcester, Mass., where Dr. Goddard was a professor at Clark University and where he conducted his first rocket experiments. Mrs. Goddard showed the fiercer moves she had taken of early tests.

Impressed, Colonel Lindbergh went to Daniel Guggenheim, whose foundation sponsored much aviation pioneering. The Guggenheims gave Dr. Goddard $25,000 a year for research. He moved his operations to the "prairies."

"We didn't dare call them deserts," says Mrs. Goddard—near Roswell, N. M.

THERE WAS ANOTHER reason for going. Dr. Goddard's experiments on Aunt Effie Ward's farm near Auburn had started a bad fire. Someone had called the police. The fire department came. And the word was passed that maybe this crazy professor was too dangerous a nut to have around.

The Goddards worked at Roswell from 1926 until Dr. Goddard was tapped by the Navy in 1941 to work on JATO—jet assisted takeoffs for conventional aircraft.

They had wanted him to work on new powder and explosives, but he wasn't interested. He wanted to stay in liquid fuel research, in which he saw a great future.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

June 15, 1938—Two men took $15 from a Barclay Heights gas station in an early morning armed robbery.

Assemblyman J. Edward Conway was named a member of a commission to hear claims of property owners in Schoharie County in conjunction with a New York water works project.

June 16, 1938—Judge Joseph M. Fowler was honored by the Kiwanis Club for his assistance to the local Salvation Army program for 15 years.

Word was received in Ellen-

In all, Dr. Goddard may have launched 30 rockets. Mrs. Goddard doesn't recall the exact number.

His most successful rocket reached a height of 7,000 feet and had a range of 500 to 600 miles.

But Dr. Goddard wasn't particularly interested in distance. What he was after was reliability in the engine.

That, by the way, is what today's missile launchers are still trying to achieve and wish they had.

DR. GODDARD WAS born in 1882 at Worcester and was educated at Worcester Polytechnic. He kept a diary from the time he was 17 years old, when his first experiments began.

He started his experiments with ordinary Fourth of July, skyrockets. He found them very inefficient. There was no exhaust cone to shape the thrust and give good direction. That was the beginning.

He wrote voluminously, not only in his diary, but in separate papers. Mrs. Goddard collected 136 of these papers after her husband's death in August, 1945.

She took them to Harry Guggenheim, who looked them over and decided that the ideas they contained should be patented. During World War II all patents had been sealed, so Dr. Goddard had not applied for patents on his own ideas.

With the help of Charles T. Hawley of Worcester, Mrs. Goddard's attorney, the patents were secured. The last of them came through in April, 1957—nearly 12 years later.

These patents cover the whole range of rocketry. They unquestionably establish Dr. Goddard as the father of this science. Russian and German scientists wrote a lot of theory. Dr. Goddard proved it out. His patents lay out many of the basic principles still used today.

He wasn't interested in money. Two hundred thousand dollars or so probably financed his life work. But from 1930 on, he was doing what he wanted most to do, and he was happy.

THOUGH NONE OF his rockets ever got into the upper atmosphere, Dr. Goddard wrote much on space flight.

"The Ultimate in Jet Propulsion" was the title of one of his papers. He wrote not only of interplanetary flight, but also of intergalactic flight.

He used to talk a great deal about the desirability of nuclear power for rockets. Subatomic power, he called it. He started working on it in 1920, but was not in on the U. S. Manhattan District atomic bomb development.

Dr. Goddard's work is nevertheless only now coming into the full recognition it deserves. It places him alongside Robert Fulton, Alexander Graham Bell, Samuel F. B. Morse and the Wright Brothers as an American genius.

Dr. Goddard's biography, written by Milton Lehman in collaboration with Mrs. Goddard, is now in preparation. Mrs. Goddard also hopes to have much of his diary and many of his papers published later on.

So They Say..

If we have rockets good enough to land men and equipment on the moon, the enemy will surely have ones good enough to put a hydrogen bomb at the same spot.

It's time American men stopped staring at women's bodies and started appreciating their faces. Our morbid preoccupation with female legs, derrieres and bosoms marks us as barbarians, fit only to live in caves.

No Evidence of Corruption Seen in Adams Gifts Case

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's "proper" and "improper" in the Washington world—and what's "ethical" and "unethical?"

Judging by the headline publicity given to the Sherman Adams case in the last few days and to the Gen. Vaughan episode during the Truman administration, it is "improper" for any official to do for a friend what he would do for a stranger.

General Vaughan, who was military aide to President Truman, was unjustly maligned for accepting a "deep freeze" and other gifts from old friends who happened to have business relationships with the government. This correspondent wrote on Aug. 17, 1949, in defense of Gen. Vaughan as follows:

"Gen. Vaughan presumably has the right to speak for the White House. If the words 'military aide' had been dropped from his title and he had acted simply as one of the many civilian assistants at the White House, it is doubtful whether much fuss would have been stirred up about his activities. As one of the President's assistants he has had the right to telephone to or confer with anybody about anything happening in the government.

Gift or Bribe?

"The impropriety, if any, on Gen. Vaughan's part was in going beyond the functions of a military aide, though again and again in the past military aides have acted virtually as super-secretaries.

"The acceptance of gifts in itself cannot be held to be improper unless in some way the gift can be proved to have been related to some governmental action taken. If, indeed, it can be proved that it was a bribe, then the laws already on the statute books can take care of such cases.

No such proof was ever offered in the case of Gen. Vaughan.

Sherman Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower in the work of the executive offices, is a man of integrity. The President is convinced he is. The mere fact that Mr. Adams may have accepted gifts and hospitality from a long-time friend is not evidence either of corruption or of the exercise of an improper influence by Mr. Adams upon any of the independent governmental bodies mentioned in the case. To insinuate or infer that there was corruption is to libel Mr. Adams. Congressional committees are, however, immune from libel prosecutions. Thus reputations can be irreparably damaged by statements made by members of Congressional committees or their staffs in giving "smear" news to the press.

No Rebutter

In this instance the information as to what Mr. Adams really did was not handled by the House committee in such a way that his answer could be given to the public the same day the charges were made. The accusations were widely spread before the rebuttal could be presented. The implications of wrongdoing were not supported by any proof of undue influence.

The House of Representatives, by resolution, in March 1955 modified its own rules and provided that evidence which might "tend to defame or to degrade" an individual must be submitted in private session and an opportunity afforded the person involved to submit a rebuttal. This rule was violated by the House committee in the Adams case even after attention was called to the rule. For there was no "evidence" of any wrongdoing.

Incidentally not so long ago the so-called "liberals" were crying out vehemently against the doctrine of "guilt by association," and against "innuendoes" publicly made against individuals who had not had a previous opportunity to know of the charges being made against them before Congressional committees or to answer such charges before degrading publicity was issued.

The reason for all this, of course, is politics. The Republicans in the 1952 campaign referred often to the charges of corruption which they said had happened under the Truman regime. Now the Democrats are striking back. It happens, however, that some of the individuals involved in those charges under the Truman administration were tried by the courts and ordered to serve jail sentences. This is not at all parallel to what was revealed last week under the Republican administration.

Gifts to Congress Members

Plainly, if Sherman Adams had thought at the time that there was anything wrong in accepting presents or hospitalization from an old friend, he would have avoided any such embarrassment. Likewise if he had believed it was improper to phone a governmental agency to make a routine inquiry about a friend's case, Mr. Adams would never have done it. Theoretically, he should have rejected any hospitality or gifts at Christmas from every friend and should have said: "I am sorry, but, if I take the gifts and some day you need an introduction to any government official—to which you which you would be justly entitled—I will not be able to do for you what I could do for a perfect stranger."

Many members of Congress, frequently accept gifts and hospitality from their constituents who have legislation pending in the Senate or the House. Is this "proper" or "improper"? It certainly is not on its face. Evidence of corruption but only a striking example of how "guilt by innuendo" can impair the right of every individual to be considered honest until proved dishonest.

Don't Kick My Dog

By FRANK TRIPP

There's a squeaky screen door at our Summer place. Few people would tolerate it. All who visit us must wonder why we don't spot a drop of oil on the hinges.

It's a reasonable observation for which we have a reasonable answer. It's shrill metallic squeak seems exactly tuned to the sensitive ear of the boss of our household. From almost anywhere, Cokey will hear it and respond. It's a magic dog-call.

Important to Cokey, it tells him when we're watching her maneuvers to police a spacious flower garden. Poodles like an audience.

Cokey of whom I've written more praise than any human, knows Fanny's passionate love of flowers. Long since, she decided that what Fanny or Anna prize she will do her tiny best to defend.

The little coal black girl, a foot-high miniature poodle, reared as real dog, will take on any garden intruder be it large or small, tame or wild.

RAVENOUS rabbits, destructive woodchucks, marauding muskrats or the wily fox, she knows are enemies of the people she loves, and threaten the liberty we have given her. So she goes to bat for us in ways beyond belief, with courage beyond her strength with the tenacity of a bulldog.

I've tried to think of some human who has stuck his neck out for us as far as has little Cokey. Repeatedly, in spite of efforts to restrain her, she has risked her pretty neck to defend that which we prize; a tiny David taking on Goliath—it must be with a god of canines in her corner.

Yelping like a coyote, she dives into bushes and under brush where could be anything from a harmless chipmunk to a rabid fox, waiting to destroy her.

IN CROWDED cities one sees Cokey's counterpart living in an apartment or hotel along canyon streets; led on a leash over hot and crowded pavements for a brief breath of the outdoors and the freedom that two Cokeys have taught us to be what poodles crave.

Yet the naturally sturdy and obedient poodle, originally a crafty hunter and retriever in its native Russia, because of its beauty, long ago became the lap-dog and house plant of fashionable French ladies.

To those of you who do not know the poodle's amazing intelligence, its near-human personality and years for dog freedom, the misnamed "French poodle" has become a term synonymous with "sissy."

AS WITH a child, any healthy standard or miniature poodle will disprove the slander if, from a puppy, it is given the chance of an average sensibly reared dog. As for the hybrid "toy" breed, perhaps not.

Both of our pedigreed miniature Cokeys grew into nifty, outdoor-loving rascals; without losing those lovable indoor virtues and the cleanliness that sentence too many miniatures to the life of the pint-size "toys" and the imprisonment of a canary. Because owners do not understand them.

OUR household owes so much happiness, contentment, even security, to the loyal poodle that this plea for their release from social bondage, and a chance to be real dogs, is puny installment on the debt we owe.

A well-bred standard or miniature poodle can be almost anything in dogdom that a patient master chooses to make of it. When you call poodles "sissies"—you kick my dog.

MODENA — Mabel Mount of the Ardorian section, observed a birthday Saturday, June 7, and was honored with a party at Pine Tree Inn, Middle Hope, by Club 15. She is a member of the group.

Those attending were Gloria and Dorothy Gilmore, Sadie and Fannie Montrola and friend from New Jersey; Catherine and Christine Rhoades, of Tuckers Corners; Maud Thelma and Marie Palmateer of Ardoria; Elizabeth Terpening, Anna May Vandermark and Ethel Giasano of Highland.

Wesleyan Service Guild of Modena Methodist Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Burton Ward.

Those attending were Mrs. Herbert Winters Jr., Mrs. Emmett Hyatt, Mrs. George Crites, Mrs. Ralph Tice, Mrs. Walter Lofink, Mrs. Roy Jansen and Mrs. Louis Hyatt.

Plans were completed for the strawberry festival Saturday, June 21, rain or shine at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall.

Strawberry shortcake, coffee and soda, will be served by Guild members, while members of the official board will sponsor a Tom Thumb wedding.

Pledges will be received at the next meeting Tuesday, July 1, at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Walter Lofink. Mrs. Emmett Hyatt will be in charge of devotions.

Members of the Guild will have charge of the food table, at annual church fair Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 9, at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall.

Memberships will be received at a brief meeting held in connection with the annual picnic for members of the Modena unit, Ulster County Home Extension Service, Tuesday at Kay DuBois's home, DuBois road, south of New Paltz, rain or shine.

A brief lesson on the family life project is planned with Mrs. Gertrude Elliott in charge.

The third lesson in a series of four, planned for the local teacher training course conducted by the Rev. George Johnson at Modena Church will be held Thursday, June 19, at 8 p. m. The classes are open to all interested in religious education and training methods.

Miss Ruth DuBois of Highland; Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., of New Hurley; Frank E. Crawford, Charles Crawford and son, David of Chelsea; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Davis of Lloyd, were among visitors of Miss Glennie M. Wager, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pierce and daughters of Central Valley, were visitors of Mrs. Eber G. Palmer and family Sunday.

Mrs. A. Lehman of Gardiner visited Mrs. Anna Kittleberger recently.

The surprise party given Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck on their golden wedding anniversary, was held at their home in Modena, instead of the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, as reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jensen were in New York City last week, to visit the former's sister, who recently arrived from Norway.

Mrs. Oscar Smith and Miss Marguerite Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. John J. Davis at Lloyd Sunday.

A. Barton of Poughkeepsie was a visitor in town Monday.

Miss Annette Palmer, a graduate of the State Teachers College, Albany, will teach in the Florida, N. Y., School, beginning the fall term.

Get Immigration Figures Changed, Italians Advised

New York State's attorney general would use the 1950 census rather than 1920 figures in putting the ceiling on immigration.

Louis J. Lefkowitz said this in an address prepared for delivery today to the Grand Lodge of the Order of the Sons of Italy in America convened at Saratoga Springs.

The change would increase the maximum annual world-wide immigration quota from 154,857 to about 200,000, he said.

Would Change Quotas
Another thing, he said, provision must be made for transferring unused quotas from northern and western European countries to nations of southeast Europe, including Italy, so that each year an additional 60,000 persons from the latter regions could be admitted to the United States.

Liberalization of the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act must be a primary objective of all right thinking Americans, he said.

Doors Closed to Many

Lefkowitz said the "rigid and discriminatory national origin quotas of the Act" virtually closes the doors to untold thousands of oppressed and enslaved men, women and children and for refugees of the second World War and its aftermath.

The opportunity to emigrate to our shores is not simply a matter of bettering a way of life, he said, but is rather a question of existence itself.

Lefkowitz urged the Sons of Italy in America to carry on a valiant fight for liberalization of the McCarran-Walter Law.

"You have achieved a proud record in countless benevolent and charitable endeavors in behalf of Italian Americans," he declared.

Must Assist Youth

Another cause in which all Americans must unite to overcome, Lefkowitz said, is the rising trend of unlawful and antisocial behavior among young people.

"We must, as individuals and as organized bodies, seek out and put into practice all possible measures to stem the tide of juvenile delinquency and to enable our youth to enrich their own lives and to become productive members of society."

Urges True Crusade

"To my way of thinking, the primary causes of this juvenile delinquency lie in the absence of religious training and faith, in the breakdown of family life, the failure to discharge parental responsibility and the failure to respect authority."

"Yours is a heritage which fits you singularly to fight these evils. The American of Italian birth and Italian descent is a man of strong religious conviction; a man to whom the sanctity of the family is a precious tradition; a man who is ever aware of his responsibility as a parent, and who is respectful of authority. Yours would be a true crusade for re-awakening of religious faith, of parental obligation and responsible juvenile behavior."

Herkimer Man Head Of Purple Heart Order

HERKIMER, N. Y. (AP) — Frank Cancellino of Herkimer Saturday was elected commander of the New York State Department, Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Also elected at the group's two-day 26th state convention, which ended Saturday, were: Thomas Sharpe of Troy, senior vice commander; Pierre Darcy of Syracuse, junior vice commander; Peter Kalynycsm of Herkimer, finance officer; William Schain of the Bronx, inspector; Jack La Fleur of Troy, judge advocate, and Charles Knickerbocker of New Rochelle sergeant at arms.

Matter of FACT

In the United States, Sunday is the only holiday recognized by the common law of the country. All the other holidays are proclaimed by the state legislatures. The holidays observed each year in every state and territory are New Year's Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

Two areas in particular, the Midwest and Southwest, are expected to feel the pinch increasingly, warns the Population Reference Bureau. In 1900, the per capita daily consumption of water (amount used divided by population) was 530 gallons. In 1950, it was 1,340. By 1970, it is expected to climb to 1,947 gallons.

That Americans are getting older as a people. In 1870 half the population of the United States was under 20 years old. Today only a third are minors.

That it really pays to keep your eyes open. Psychologists estimate that 80 per cent of our knowledge is gained through the sense of sight.

That it can be dangerous to drive while smoking. Even a single cigarette can impair visual efficiency through increasing the content of carbon monoxide, instead of oxygen, in the bloodstream.

That bellhops walk at least twice as far as housewives during the day. A survey at the Hotel Edison here disclosed the bag toters average a mile on foot every working hour.

That this may be a sign the recession is on the downturn: Hotels report guests have been stealing fewer towels lately.

That the United States has more trucks than all the rest of the world combined.

That Benjamin Franklin really proved "necessity is the mother of invention." He invented bifocal glasses at the age of 78.

That if you take tranquilizers, you may be interested to know they have been labeled as "po-

That U.S. prisoners who have lost the right to vote suffer taxation without representation. They still must pay taxes on any income they receive while in prison.

That one of the big obstacles to improving the world is the fact that from 45 to 55 per cent of its population is still illiterate. The continent with the highest illiteracy—80 per cent—is Africa.

That Denmark is the country with the oldest national flag. It has been waving since 1218.

That in Kansas it's illegal to catch fish with your toes.

That a phonograph needle vi-

Goal Is 6,500 Feet

Drilling Resumes At Gas Test Well In Greene County

Electro magnetic tests at the Mitchell Hollow gas well operation now at the 4,800 foot level, indicate that an additional flow of gas may be found at the 6,500 level, and drilling resumed during the weekend.

Supervisor Larry Lane of Windham, leasing agent for the United Carbon Co., Charleston, W. Va., said the company, following a check of the test reports, decided on the 6,500 foot level.

Halted At 4,800 Feet

Drilling had been halted for several days at the 4,800 ft. level when the average 24-hour yield of natural gas dropped from 3,000,000 to 100,000 cubic feet.

Lane said that drilling had been resumed at the Maurice Gans No. 1 Well, Greene County after reports indicated that the main pocket of gas had not been bypassed. The tests were taken in the belief that by continuing to dig deeper, the original flow of natural gas had been inadvertently bypassed.

The Charleston, W. Va., company holds gas and oil exploration rights to about 35,000 acres in the Windham area. Lane said new leases are being prepared for the acquisition of about 500 more acres in the same area.

$1 An Acre Lease

The Gans acreage is leased for $1 an acre a year plus one-eighth share of royalties from any well that might materialize.

The original drilling began in late December at which time United Carbon said it was prepared to spend up to $2,000,000 on the well.

A well drilled approximately four years ago in Ulster County for the Dome Gas & Oil Corp., produced 100,000 cubic feet per day—not a commercial quantity.

Police Kill Man In Attempt to Abduct Ex-Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — A policeman shot a man fatally early today after the man pulled his ex-wife into an automobile, tried to drive off with her and then drove the car at policemen.

Police said Joseph Gazzola, 23, of Manhattan, found his ex-wife, Elaine Wigner, 21, standing with another man outside a grocery store in Rego Park, Queens, shortly after midnight. The police gave the account.

Gazzola tried to pull her into the car and two patrolmen in a radio car heard her scream. When they arrived, Gazzola drove his car at both patrolmen.

A bumper caught the uniform of Patrolman John Ranieri, who shot Gazzola through an open window. The car dragged Ranieri for some distance, and then swerved and hit a tree. Ranieri was hospitalized for treatment of cuts.

Miss Wigner was thrown from the car and suffered a hip fracture and bruises. A second patrolman, John McCabe, also suffered cuts when crushed by the car but was released from a hospital after treatment.

48 Degrees Here

Cool winds over the weekend brought a low temperature of 48 degrees for both Saturday and Sunday here, the city engineer's office reported today. The high temperature for each day was 78 degrees. The low for both days was at 3 a. m. The high Saturday was a 6:15 p. m. and that on Sunday was at 6 p. m.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned irregular in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

The market's latest drive into new high ground for 1958 stumbled on profit taking.

Rails held a fairly good edge to the upside. Coppers, chemicals and aircrafts broke up an early pattern of gains although some remained well ahead. Tobacco and selected issues performed well. Steel were mixed. Motors leaned to the upside.

Gains of around a point were made by American Cyanamid, Du Pont, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft and Eastern Gas & Fuel.

Small gains were posted by New York Central, Illinois Central, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Loew's, Phelps, Dodge and Sears Roebuck.

Off a bit were United Aircraft, Goodyear, Sinclair, U. S. Steel, International Telephone and Commonwealth Edison. Union Carbide dropped about a point.

U. S. government bonds declined.

Jaycee Officers Installed at Annual Dinner

Installation of officers of Kingston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the annual joint banquet of Jaycees and Jayneesses Saturday night at Williams Lake Hotel.

Officers installed were: Morton Gazlay, president; George Moore, external vice president; Warren Schoonmaker, internal vice president; Robert Sedge, treasurer; John Lawson, secretary; Jack Herlihy, state director; Robert Rush, Richard Spindel and Richard Cornish, directors.

Jack Farnam, New York State Junior Chamber of Commerce internal vice president, Albany, presided at the installation ceremonies.

In his inaugural speech, President Gazlay outlined the aims for the coming year, stressing the participation of Jaycees in the furtherance of youth activities and community betterment.

Dancing followed the dinner and installation.

Soil Map Available

Supervisor Terwilliger has received a soil survey map of Ulster County which will be left in the town clerk's office where it may be inspected.

There were discussions on the resurfacing of Route 209 through the town of Rochester; on the delinquent dog list; the Youth Commission program.

It was announced the Youth Commission program for the town of Rochester for 1958 had received state approval. Leslie Aaron, chairman of the Youth Commission extends an invitation to all school age children to participate in the program which will begin July 1 at the Accord school grounds.

But Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.), running for the California governorship this year, led an imposing array of politicians speaking critically of Adams — especially his silence as to whether he received expensive gifts from Goldfine as well as the hotel rooms.

Knowland said the facts in the Adams case "should be completely disclosed, otherwise the responsibility he has with the President would be seriously undermined."

NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD

Anxious bond and stockholders in New York Central are wondering about the future of this big rail system. On the surface of things this anxiety seems well-founded.

Based on book value, the common stock is selling for 9 cents on the dollar. The refunding bonds that have always paid their interest on time are yielding over 8 per cent at today's prices. And even the first lien, long-term 3 1/2% that are legal investments for savings banks in several states (including New York), can be bought for 61 cents on the dollar.

Responding to a deluge of inquiries from readers of this column asking about the financial future of Central, I have just visited the road's headquarters in New York where I talked with leading officials.

The situation is not as bad as the prices of the securities would indicate. The public is too pessimistic about Central's future. This article is a factual piece about some of the things being done by a hard-hitting executive staff which is daily studying the problems and the potentials of the system.

Presently, freight traffic is down and passenger traffic losses are high. The recession has hit Central hard. The passenger situation is under steady review. Uneconomic trains are being dropped as the authorities give permission.

The optimistic view of this matter is that late in 1958, freight car loadings will improve and very soon the staggering losses on passenger traffic will be reduced.

But there are items in the picture that probably will not get into the public statistical books. Here are a few.

The New York Central Railroad has about 20,000 leases with businesses and corporations. Right now, these leases are being reviewed to bring their terms up to date in today's inflationary economy. As this is written, 15 per cent of these leases have been renegotiated and over $550,000 yearly has been added to Central's income.

Railroad yards are being made smaller and much more efficient. Obsolete property is being sold, thus saving on maintenance and taxation. During 1957, surplus property in the amount of $12,000,000 was sold. Perhaps money from this property was that used to reduce New York Central's debt last year.

The big system's annual income from leading New York City hotels — Commodore, Biltmore, Roosevelt, Park Lane, Barclay and Waldorf-Astoria — is steadily increasing. Properties on the east side of New York are to be transformed in the future to produce the revenues they should. A huge office building is soon to be started in the area of the Grand Central Station.

New York Central owns 40 acres in the heart of Manhattan's West Side. Its potentials are tremendous. Plans are now under way to build a sizeable motel on a small section of this property.

In 1958, these 40 acres remind me of a smaller plot of ground developed by a far-seeing and courageous real estate man in the area where the United Nations headquarters are now.

Back in 1926-1928, Tudor City, New York City, came into being. Before its development, it was a despicable area. It was a center of slaughter houses and belching powerhouse chimneys.

But in 30 years, the whole community has been beautifully transformed and values there have skyrocketed. The site of the gorgeous UN building was once an abattoir.

New York Central's West Side 40 acres have infinitely more potential than Tudor City had. It faces the majestic Hudson River and, rightly handled, in 20 years it could be New York City's choice residential section.

Don't sell the New York Central Railroad system short. It has tremendous potentialities. Present management is far-seeing and capable.

Police Secretary

peared some nine months ago with the report to the police commissioners, of the grand jury, after indictment of new men on charges of burglary, and allied offenses. That report, because it did not mention names, spread suspicion over every man in the department, and seriously hampered the effectiveness of the department itself.

"It is standard procedure in police administration to dispose of charges as soon as possible. It was imperative for the good of the city generally, and law enforcement specifically for the police commissioners to invite the aid of the district attorney, which was offered, and proceed with hearing in the case, of those men named by innuendo or intimation.

Derogatory Publicity

"This was required because of derogatory reference to every man in uniform, all being unnamed. Because of this neglect, the City of Kingston was headlined all over the state as a city of crime. Because of this neglect, the Reuter investigators were directed here. Even so, promotions were made in the police department.

"Now we are told departmental hearings have started, and over them is the same old cloak of secrecy that has caused so much trouble, and cost us so much in reputation, and done so much harm to our police department and the men in it. This procedure is compounding suspicion and deepening the harm that has been done."

'The Search' Is Proof TV Aids in Informative Way

By IRVING GITLIN
NEW YORK (AP)—More than anything else, "The Search" is a try—a try which proved television capable of tackling potentially difficult subjects and translating those subjects into interesting, entertaining, understandable and informative reports to an immense audience.

We feel "The Search" accomplished more than just setting one more precedent in a precedent setting industry. It has helped to establish thoughtful, carefully documented public affairs programming as an integral part of the network program schedule. Even more important, "The Search" in its own way has served to focus increased attention on television's expanding responsibility to inform its audience on subjects of vital national interest. This is especially true today, with the country's added emphasis on the need for science and learning.

Designed to acquaint the viewer with the remarkable and significant research programs being undertaken in the nation's foremost universities, each program in the series takes the national television audience into a different great American university for a penetrating glimpse at one of that institution's most important research projects. Our cameras have ranged from California to Maryland to Arkansas to Minnesota, and points in between.

Subjects explored vary from penology and physical rehabilitation to auto crash research and seismology. The most prominent scientists and educators in the country have come before the cameras to explain what they are doing, how much they have accomplished, and the way.

Travis Is Actor, But Real Estate Makes Him Plenty

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's a fellow who leads a double life. Some days he's Richard Travis, film actor.

The rest of the time he's William Justice, real estate executive. Travis and Justice are the same man, a tall, handsome gent who appears well adjusted despite his occupational schizophrenia.

I walked to Travis on the set of his latest picture, a sci-fi caper called "Missile to the Moon." He filled me in on Justice, which is his real name.

The whole thing started about five years ago when Dick's mother sold a house. The real estate agents, a pair of brothers who had been successful in Beverly Hills, propositioned Dick to join their firm.

"I had been doing fairly well in pictures—making $15,000 to $18,000 a year," he said. "But the caliber of pictures I was offered was pretty crummy. So I decided to try real estate and I took the state examination."

"I found I liked it. When you get to the point of closing a deal, there's a real excitement, the same as you get in acting. And I found that people generally recognized me from pictures or television, so that was a help."

Eventually, his backers went into manufacturing and Dick bought them out and founded the William Justice Co. The firm now grosses more than two million dollars in the competitive Beverly Hills market and sales of $250,- 000 houses are not unusual. Dick is now vice president of the Beverly Hills Realty Board and is destined to be president next term.

However, he indicated that Travis may dominate Justice in the future.

"I've always had an agreement with my co-workers that when roles came up, I would take time off," he said. "I think I may take 10 pounds off and devote even more time to acting. It's really my first love."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—What's slight slip in consumer spending hasn't fazed the bulls.

What do they think justifies bidding up stock prices now?

Stock prices have been rising pretty steadily since the middle of May and of late the popular indexes of stock averages have been climbing into high ground for the year.

They have done this in the face of a growing number of bears who think prices will drop and therefore have increased their short selling of borrowed stocks, expecting to buy back at lower prices.

Sees Higher Prices Ahead

The highs have been reached in spite of generally poor earnings statements for the first three months of the year and indications that the current three months may follow the same pattern.

The bulls who see still higher stock prices ahead also are disregarding the greatest postwar total of companies omitting dividends or cutting them.

The drop in industrial output, the high total of unemployment, the dip in national income and a slight slip in consumer spending hasn't fazed the bulls.

What do they think justifies bidding up stock prices now?

Feel Bottom Near

Some fully believe that the slump is at or near bottom and that the only way for business to go now is up. If sales go up, earnings should rise for many companies. Profits fall faster and further than sales in a recession and could rise faster in a rebound of sales and production.

The bulls argue that if earnings turn up, dividend payments can be resumed where dropped or restored to their former levels where cut.

Other bulls are operating in the belief that inflation has joined death and taxes on the list of things that are certain.

They hold that with the government committed to trying to achieve full employment, with higher wages sure for many workers and likely for others, with a federal deficit mounting fast, there's nothing ahead but higher prices.

Another Kind of Money

And when inflation gets going, stock prices go up, too, both in sympathy and as a hedge against the further chipping away of the market value of the dollar put into fixed income investments.

Then there is another kind of money in the market buying stocks—big pools of investment funds. Example: Pension funds keep right on swelling, and that money must be put to work somewhere.

Then why are there so many bears, too?

Bears have noted that in the first quarter of this year corporate profits as a whole were down by one third from the first three months of 1957.

Only 33 Raises

Bears have watched 144 companies omit dividend payments so far this year. They have seen 241 others cut payments. Only 33 have raised them. Many companies that have maintained their dividend rates have done so in face of falling earnings and some despite making less than enough to cover the payments.

The bears shrug off June's better statistical news on the ground that much of it is seasonal and won't last, that part of it is just a flash in the pan, and that the rest has yet to be tested by time.

As long as there are bulls and bears and individuals with savings and investment funds, we'll have a stock market. And six months from now we'll know who guessed right, the bulls or the bears, or those who stayed on the sidelines.

Strictly American Hot Dog Is Underdog in Brussels

The fact that hot dogs aren't selling like hot cakes at the Brussels World's Fair may be disappointing to Americans who hoped the hot dog would win friends among visitors from other lands.

News stories said high prices in the U. S. pavilion were to blame. But maybe there is a deeper reason.

The hot dog isn't just a sandwich. It's not because it tastes so good that Americans have a weakness for it.

To an American the unmistakable aroma of a hot dog doused with mustard brings back memories of happy times.

It is all tied up with football and baseball games, with carnivals and county fairs, with picnics and barbecues.

It smells of the great outdoors—because that is where it is usually eaten.

It is associated with youth, with crisp Fall days and moonlit nights.

But unless you are an American born and bred the hot dog doesn't have these happy associations. It has no association at all for the foreigner who knows the hot dog only by reputation.

For the foreigner, then, the hot dog is just a frankfurter—not too well seasoned—sitting in an elongated bun.

That's why we can't send the hot dog to Brussels and expect it to win friends for us. Bring the foreigner to America and let him meet the hot dog on its home grounds, and that might be a different story.

When we talk about something being as "American as the hot dog" we mean as American as the hot dog at a ball game or race track or back-yard barbecue.

We don't mean as "American as a hot dog sent to a fair in Brussels as a good-will ambassador." That's too high falutin' a mission for the lowly dog.

Many of the New York State highways follow original Indian trails.

Cornell Awards 1,858 Degrees at 90th Graduation

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Cornell University awards 1,858 degrees today at its 90th commencement.

In keeping with Cornell tradition, Deane W. Malott, university president, was to deliver the commencement address. Cornell does not award honorary degrees.

The Cornell exercises close the commencement season in New York State. Union College in Schenectady and Hobart and William Smith colleges in Geneva graduated classes Sunday.

In a baccalaureate address Sunday, a Protestant churchman told the Cornell graduates that religion on the campus today was too "calculating and respectable" to produce inspired leadership.

Dr. Wilbur Eddy Saunders, president of Colgate - Rochester Divinity School, called for more persons willing to "go off the deep end" and stand up for their beliefs.

Well-balanced people make little contribution to human progress, Dr. Saunders contended. He added:

"The man who can always see both sides of the question... makes little difference in the world by his living."

Produces Cool Attitude

Dr. Saunders said a religious revival now current on campuses has produced the cool, casual attitudes of the organization man, instead of "knights riding off in armor to battle for righteousness."

At Schenectady, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, told the 15 Union graduates that America must do a better job of communicating its concept of freedom to the free world.

Emphasis on raising our standard of living, at the expense of international understanding, cannot assure America's security, he said.

Honorary degrees were awarded to Dr. Julius Adams Stratton, chancellor and acting president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Dr. L. Job Lane Jr., assistant medical director of Samaritan Hospital in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Rise Stevens, a star at the Metropolitan Opera, received an honorary degree of doctor of humane letters from Hobart and William Smith. A total of 173 was graduated from the combined schools.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

A short time ago there was mention in this column about a item in an Albany paper whereby someone was interested in the building on Overlook Mt. Later a reader said that the New York Conservationist of Feb.-March 1958 had a story on that mountain and building. Wilson Tinney of Port Ewen just loaned me the magazine with the illustrated story by Alf Evers. There is a good photo of the range of mountains and giving the names of such locations as: Meade Mountain, Cooper's Lake; Mt. Tobias; Mt. Pleasant; Mt. Tremper; Silver Hollow; Rocky Ford Mountain; Olderbark; Mink Hollow; Hunter Mountain; Plateau Mountain; Sugarloaf Mountain; Twin Mountain; Indian Head; the Plain and Overlook Mountain House.

The author mentions the ledge near the top of Overlook Mountain where is cut historic date: July 4, 1826, which was 50th anniversary of the Independence. He also mentions that handful of Indian spears and arrow points were found about 900 feet up along the Fountainkill, the stream which drains Lewis Hollow, not far above Glasco Turnpike. He feels that some day the State Archeologist may excavate some of the findings there. It seems a trench was dug around 1930 and it may have been a "shelter" used many centuries ago. He tells about the last "hermit" named Fulton who he thinks made his home somewhere near a waterfall on Overlook. There seems to be record of survivors penetrating the forests there for the 1764 subdivision of the Great Lot 26 of the Hardenberg Patent.

Those who are interested in very early American glass coming from Woodstock may want to read Mr. Evers article as he tells about the venture. It seems some enterprising men built a whole "company town" complete with a store selling rum as well as calico and tea, a blacksmith shop, factory and storage buildings, a sawmill and even thinks a school house. It seems they used the hardwoods such as beech, sugar maple and yellow birch and later the softwoods for their glass making.

Dates are not given nor names of people or firm nor exact type of glass items made. He tells how the wood was cut in winter, carefully seasoned under sheds and finally even oven-dried before being used. Sand for the glass making was brought up the Hudson in company sloops from Amboy, N. J., to the company wharf at Glasco (short for Glass Company) and then hauled to the factory over the company's own turnpike. He does mention that until 1856 several companies made window glass, domes to be placed over wax flowers, some bottles and possibly a little tableware. "By then competition from factories elsewhere using coal as fuel and the exhaustion of the primeval forest combined to bring an end to glass-making in Woodstock."

There is a detailed description of the Overlook Mountain House which opened for business on June 15, 1871. This original structure burned down before 1878 and was rebuilt to hold 300 guests. Much is written on Overlook by the author and pictures are given of the piazza and parlor etc., and no doubt old timers could tell many more interesting stories about it. Morris Newgold, a New York inventor and hotel owner tried to revive it in 1917 but he too had to give up the dream after many years of struggle. He planned a cable railway to the mountain and a landing field for planes.

Wabash Floods Force 1,000 to Move From Homes

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Floodwaters of a Wabash River tributary picked up speed today, after overwhelming an earthen levee protecting the city of West Terre Haute, and spread out to inundate 30 per cent of the community.

The 4,000 residents of this western Indiana town near the Illinois border had been alerted Sunday night to the danger from swollen Sugar Creek. Civil Defense officials reported no casualties among the 1,000 persons forced from their homes.

An Indiana National Guard truck, a jeep and a pickup truck were swept away when the river poured over the levee at 2:30 a.m. about a mile upstream from where the creek empties into the Wabash.

Six Rescued

Six men working on the levee were rescued.

The water, flowed across U.S. 40 five blocks west of the Wabash and closed the heavily traveled highway.

West Terre Haute firemen prepared to shift their equipment to a schoolhouse on higher ground.

Engineers inspected the main Wabash bridge on U.S. 40 connecting Terre Haute with its sister city, and decided not to close the structure.

Residents piled themselves and their furniture on trucks. Many persons were taken to a Red Cross emergency center in the Central Grade School. Many had to be forced to leave.

Guardsmen Aid

National Guardsmen and Army reservists aided police in patrolling the city against looters.

Authorities estimated 40 per cent of the West Terre Haute community would be flooded before the Wabash reached its predicted crest.

Extra state troopers, National Guardsmen and 40 prisoners from the nearby state penal farm were rushed into the area Sunday night after Gov. Harold W. Handley declared a state of emergency. The prisoners, under guard, went to work sandbagging the weakening levee.

Terre Haute proper, with a population of 65,000, is on the east side of the river and is mostly on higher ground and not believed to be in danger.

The threat at Terre Haute came after the city of Anderson and most other northcentral Indiana communities passed their flood crisis.

British Land Jet Paratroopers in Cyprus Peace Try

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British jet transports loaded with paratroopers began streaking into Cyprus today in the second phase of a troop buildup to keep peace on this Mediterranean island.

About 3,000 paratroopers will bolster the permanent British force of 25,000.

The paratroopers arrived as fears were being voiced here and abroad that the strife between Turkish and Greek Cypriots may spread into a conflict that could crack the eastern arm of the North Atlantic Alliance.

In Turkey, mobs cried "Partition or death." This was their demand that Britain divide the island between the 400,000 Greek Cypriots and the 140,000 Turks.

The Turks bitterly oppose the Greek demand that this island—a British crown colony—be turned over to Greece.

There was a jittery calm in Cyprus as the island awaited Britain's announcement — expected Tuesday in London — of its plan for the future of Cyprus.

Knowland Will Not Retreat on Labor Platform

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Sen. William F. Knowland is not going to retreat on his labor stand. But he is going to open up on his front — running Democratic opponent for governor, Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown.

That much was clear after the Republican senator paid a flying visit to a conference of some 200 of his campaign supporters Sunday.

Shakeup Not Seen

Knowland returned to Washington with no indication of any major shakeup in his campaign command as the result of his ailing vote in the recent state primary.

Nor was there a hint of any new strategy to woo support from among the Democrats' million-vote majority.

Knowland, however, responded to pleas of his backers to take off his gloves against Brown. He declared he intends to challenge Brown's fitness for the governorship on the basis of his performance as attorney general.

Ignores Advice

Ignoring advice to go easy on his labor program and other controversial issues, Knowland declared he intends to stick by his principle even if it means losing the governorship.

He gave notice he would discuss whether Brown, as the state's chief law enforcement officer, has fully carried out his duties.

He pointed a rise in crime in California and charged laxity on Brown's part in connection with narcotics enforcement — a bureau under the attorney general that was recently overhauled.

London Dock Workers Strike Is Settled

LONDON (AP) — Most of the 20,000 dock workers whose month-long strike jeopardized London's food supplies returned to work today on union orders.

A back-to-work vote was under way also among 50,000 striking London bus workers. It appeared likely that the stoppage, now in its seventh week, would be over by Wednesday or Thursday.

The dockers had walked off the job in sympathy with a group of meat truck drivers who are still on their unofficial strike. The drivers sought higher wages.

Bids Call for Lead in Trump

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"There goes another rubber," complained Hard Luck Joe. "Sometime I'm going to pick up more than six points and win one myself."

"If you had just used a little intelligence about your opening lead," growled East, "this rubber would still be going on."

"I opened your suit, didn't I?" said Joe.

Joe had opened the four of diamonds. South had won the trick with the ace, trumped a diamond in dummy and played ace and one club. Now the defense had no way to stop South from ruffing out his last two diamonds with dummy's trumps and the three heart contract had wheeled in.

If Joe had opened a trump it would have been a different story. The defenders would have been able to lead a second trump later and South would have been unable to ruff more than two losing diamonds. He would have gone down a trick at his three heart, contract and the rubber would still have been going on. Furthermore, a trump opening was clearly indicated. North had taken out his partner's business double and surely was short in diamonds. It was up to the defense to kill ruffing power immediately.

Agreement Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) 8 the United States and Japan today formally signed a ten-year atomic agreement.

The treaty will provide Japan with 2,700 kilograms of enriched uranium-235 to fuel nuclear power reactors expected to start operation by the end of this year.

PLURAL: The first newspaper known to the Western world was the Peking (China) News. It went out of business in 1935 after publishing for 1,572 years. The word "news" is really the plural of the word new. It is derived through the French "nouvelles" and Latin "novum" for a new thing.

ABC Filmed Talk With Lodge Off

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Co. Sunday night canceled a filmed interview with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

The ambassador, said the network, had insisted upon editing certain portions of the interview. ABC said that to have permitted the deletions would have constituted editorial censorship in violation of company policy.

Hutchins Takes Issue

Dr. Robert Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic, took issue with ABC and defended Lodge. The interview was to be part of a current series on the program Mike Wallace Interview. The series is produced jointly by the fund and Newsmakers Productions.

Hutchins said in a prepared statement: "In refusing to allow an official of a television network to determine what statements of his should be broadcast, Ambassador Lodge is perfectly within his rights."

Says Others Revised

The fund president said previous programs in the series were revised with the network's approval.

A spokesman for the U. S. delegation at the United Nations said Lodge would have no comment.

John Daly, ABC vice president for news and public affairs, said Newsmakers Productions had guaranteed Lodge the right to edit the interview.

Although this was contrary to ABC policy, Daly said, ABC agreed "that the interview content could be reviewed in the light of events as of the day of the telecast."

Daly said ABC agreed with Lodge on one deletion but could not agree with the ambassador that other changes involved "national security and the public interest."

It was not disclosed which phases Lodge objected to.

Hope to Play Role That Started Career

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope takes a sentimental journey into the past tonight.

At the St. Louis Municipal Opera he'll be appearing in the role of band leader Huckleberry Haines in "Robert," a role he created 25 years ago on Broadway. It started him on the way to being one of the wealthiest, best known—and most loved comedians in show business.

"I'm getting a kick out of this," he commented. "It's great to be back in a book show. First time since I did 'Robert' at the Los Angeles Civic Opera in 1933. It's fun."

It is the first time the municipal opera has ever paid a performer $15,000 for a week's work. The conservative money in the past has considered $1,500 tops for a star. This is the opera's 40th anniversary year.

Lord Moran has been personal doctor to Sir Winston Churchill for 20 years.

Possible Interception Damper on Red Flight

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—The possibility of interception by U.S. Air Force jet fighters Sunday put a damper on a courtesy flight by the Soviet Union's TU104 jet airliner on exhibition here.

The plane, biggest attraction at the Centennial Air Show, was scheduled to fly 75 miles from Sea Island Airport to Victoria, the British Columbia capital on Vancouver Island.

It flew instead in the Greater Vancouver area after Royal Canadian Air Force officials said they had been unable to gain assurances from the U. S. Air Force that the Soviet aircraft would not be challenged by U. S. fighters should it cross the international boundary.

On the flight originally scheduled for the TU104, a slight drift could have taken the aircraft over the U. S. island of San Juan, which juts into Canadian waters in the Straits of Georgia.

Soviets Summon Ambassador for Talks on Summit

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet government has summoned its ambassadors in London and Washington to Moscow for consultations—presumably connected with intensified East-West summit and nuclear arms negotiations.

Jacob Malik left his London post by plane shortly after it was revealed that Mikhail Menshikov had slipped out of Washington and headed for the Soviet capital.

Malik told reporters: "I am going on business. When one goes to do business in one's own country, it is always a pleasure."

He did not disclose the nature of his business or how long he would be away. Ten officials of the Soviet Embassy saw him off.

Recently the pace of diplomatic exchanges between Moscow and the West has quickened.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sent lengthy communications last week to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan dealing with summit matters.

Contents of these notes have not yet been made public.

Left-Wing Groups Planning to Get On State Ballot

NEW YORK (AP)—A committee representing newly united leftists is searching for candidates in a left-wing slate in this fall's state election.

The committee, set up at the conclusion Sunday of a three-day conference of left-wing groups, also has the problem of planning a petition campaign.

A total of 12,000 signatures is needed to get on the ballot for a statewide office. At least 50 of the signatures are required in each of the state's 62 counties.

The conference ended on a note of unity after a maneuver by the Communists to concentrate on one candidate was beaten Saturday night. The Communist Party was not among the sponsors of the conference, but Communists attended by invitation.

Sponsors of the parley, the New York State Independent Political Conference, included elements of the defunct American Labor Party and the Socialist Workers (Trotskyist) Party.

A spokesman said 499 persons attended the conference.

Arnold Johnson, a Communist Party spokesman, withdrew after the one-candidate proposal was defeated. The victors left the door open for the party's participation in selection of a slate.

A platform approved by the conference covered civil rights, urged a ban on nuclear weapons, supported Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY) in his bid for reelection, and asked a work week of 30 hours and repeal of all taxes on incomes below $10,000.

The platform said the Democratic and Republican Parties have "fought for the reactionary interests of the monopoly capitalists they represent."

Powell, a Negro, has the support of the Republican Party. The Democratic organization, citing Powell's support of President Eisenhower in 1956, is supporting City Councilman Earl Brown, also a Negro.

As no man is born an artist, so no man is born an angler, said Isaac Walton.

Seen '58 Campaign Issue

Correspondent Says Adams Judgment Bad in Gift Case

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The best that can be said for Sherman Adams, the President's No. 1 assistant, is that his judgment was bad. Some Republicans want him thrown out. Democrats will use him as a campaign issue in the 1958 elections.

Any man in public office, like Adams, must decide about accepting gifts or favors from an individual whose interests may conflict with the public interest. Adams accepted.

From what followed Adams left himself open to suspicion of using his influence to repay the gifts or favors, although no one knows better than Adams that the men around a president can ill afford to be in that position.

Helped Heap Suspicion

It was this same highly moralistic New Englander who helped heap suspicion on the men around President Truman in the 1952 campaign when the main Republican theme was "Throw the rascals out."

Many men who feel they have a public trust have a simple rule of life or yardstick which, if employed by Adams, might have saved him from his present embarrassment.

It's this: never accept a gift or favor if it can remotely affect your private conscience or the public interest or even give an impression of doing so. Some members of Congress feel that way. So do some newspapermen. Here's an example:

Newsmen's Problem

Take newspaperman Smith. If Jones, a public relations man, gave him an expensive gift and then came around later with a story, Smith would be confronted with this problem:

If he used the story, he might ever afterwards feel he had been influenced to do so, even though only subconsciously, by a sense of gratitude for the gift; if he threw the story away, to avoid such a feeling, he might be unfair to Jones.

So, such a newspaperman would reason, he never should let himself be in a position of having to worry about judging a story on anything except its merits.

Adams took free hotel accommodations, amounting to $2,000, from a man he called an old family friend; Bernard Goldfine, a Boston businessman. The White House has neither confirmed nor denied reports that Adams also accepted a $700 vicuna coat and a $2,400 rug.

Arranged Interview

On Goldfine's behalf Adams made inquiries at two government agencies—the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission—with whom Goldfine was having trouble, and arranged for an interview with the FTC chairman.

Adams denies any insinuations he used his influence—and he has tremendous influence in the government—with the two agencies to benefit Goldfine. But the fact that Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 man, even inquired about Goldfine's troubles raises a question:

What is influence? Would the commissioners consider such an inquiry from Adams pressure for Goldfine or a simple, routine query? The commissioners depend on the White House for their jobs.

You'll pay for it!

It doesn't matter where you live. One blighted area anywhere in your community can cost you plenty.

In one city, it costs at least $500,000 more annually to service blighted areas than it does normal areas. Taxpayers foot the bill—pay the added cost.

The same slum section accounted for 78% of fire deaths, 65% of homicide cases and 72% of total new tuberculosis cases. That's how blight makes you pay. It costs you money, happiness, family security.

The time to stop paying is now. The place to start is in your own home. Keep it in good repair, free of creeping blight. Then work with your neighbors in community-improvement projects. Start today by writing for practical, effective information to:

since it's the President who appoints them.

Not Always Inquiry

They know Adams doesn't inquire about every businessman in trouble. It seems pretty certain comparatively few businessmen in trouble ever can get within a mile of Adams, much less get him interested in their case.

This is not the first time Adams has figured in the news for going to a government agency for some special group or individual. Yet, because of his job as assistant to the President, he enjoys a sanctuary most citizens don't have.

No congressional investigating committee can force him to appear and answer questions about his conduct. He takes the position he can't be compelled to testify about the affairs of the executive branch of the government.

But Adams wouldn't even face newsmen to answer their questions. He let his side of the case—and it's not clear that it's all been revealed yet—be stated through a public letter and President Eisenhower's press secretary.

Pero Is Added To FBI List of '10 Most Wanted'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second man sought in the gang-style killing of a Brooklyn teen-ager last March 16 was added today to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

The bureau announced it is listing among the "top ten" Angelo Luigi Pero, 33, who has been charged by state authorities with murder in the slaying of Alexander Menditto, 17-year-old prizefighter, on a Brooklyn street. . . . Pero is an associate of Dominick Scialo, also charged with the Menditto murder. Scialo was put on the "most wanted" list last month on the basis of reports he had fled New York State to avoid prosecution.

A passerby found Menditto wounded and lying in a gutter in the early hours of the morning and went for help. While he was calling an ambulance from a nearby candy store, a car pulled up and a man inside pumped three more bullets into the youth. Menditto died a few days later.

While Menditto was dying in a hospital, a friend, Bartholomew Garofalo, was found dead in a vacant Brooklyn lot. He had been beaten and shot four times. Both of his legs were broken. This slaying is still in the investigation stage.

The FBI said Pero had a 40-year criminal record, starting with a detention for rape when he was 13 years old. A sometime bookie, he has been in and out of prison a number of times for robbery, receiving stolen property and parole violation.

Plan Group Urges Ordinances to Aid Urban Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—A report published by the Regional Plan Assn. urges enactment of municipal ordinances to help combat urban ugliness and monotony.

The proposed ordinances would govern the use of color, building materials, landscaping, location and grouping of buildings.

The report, called "Planning and community appearance," was made public Sunday.

The community design plan was the result of a four-year study by a committee representing the New York chapters of the American Institute of Architects and the American Institute of Planners.

The Regional Plan Assn. is a privately operated, non-profit survey and planning group for the tristate New York metropolitan area.

The report noted that pioneering moves to control municipal design have been made in Scarsdale, Garden City and Rye, N. Y., and the Town of Stratford, Conn.

H. R. Kling Named Director of State Milk Control Body

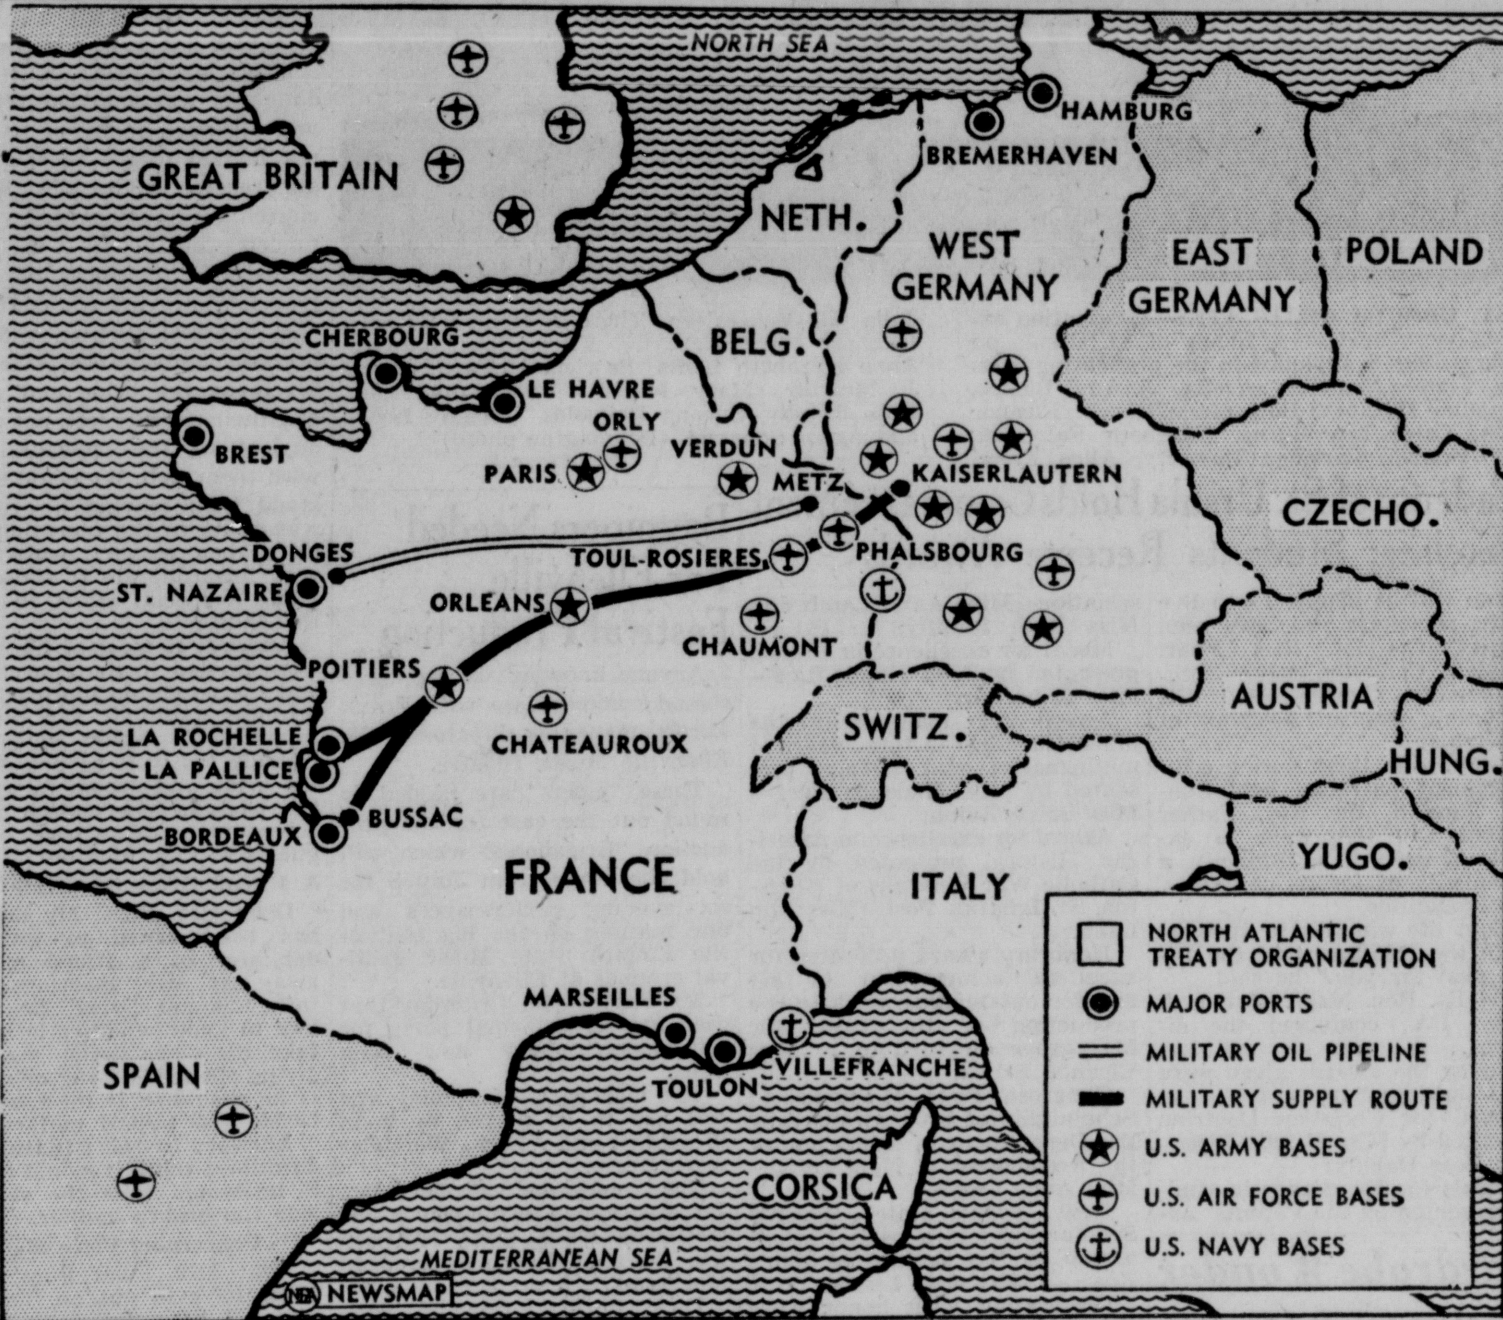

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Herbert R. Kling of Slingerlands has been named director of the state milk control division, the second man to head the division in its 4-year history.

Kling was promoted by Agriculture Commissioner Daniel J. Carey Saturday to succeed Kenneth F. Fee of Albany, who is retiring after 37 years with the Agriculture Department. Fee has been the director since the division was created in 1954.

The post pays $10,640 a year. Kling, 44, has been a research analyst in the department.

The division administers state laws governing the marketing of milk and joins with the federal government in administering federal-state orders.

U.S. STAKE IN FRENCH CRISIS—The political crisis in France has focused attention on that nation's vital geographical position in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. As news-map above shows, France is the major port of entry to the continent. Across her run the main supply routes, with their attendant warehouses, depots and repair shops, for U.S. troops in West Germany, free Europe's first line of defense. The United States has invested 1.5 billion dollars and eight years in building up a huge military and supply complex within France, containing materiel worth another billion. The 371-mile pipeline was built at a cost of 60 million dollars. On French soil are 55,000 American troops and 50 air base sites used by NATO nations, besides numerous U.S. military installations. There are 200,000-plus troops in West Germany. Should France pull out of NATO, not only would French troops, ports and bases be lost, but Kaiserlautern, main U.S. base in Germany, would be cut off. The German ports of Bremerhaven and Hamburg are too close to Red territory to be relied on. A route across the Low Countries could be constructed, but at an immense expenditure of money and time.

West Hurley News

WEST HURLEY — Mrs. Charles McWilliams, New York City, spent the weekend at the home of her brother, James D. McAuliffe. Mrs. McWilliams was Godmother for Thomas John Gleich at his christening at St. John's Church Friday. Richard Lerner, New Jersey, was Godfather.

New York City Relief Rolls Showing Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The increase in New York City's relief rolls has been tapering off for the past six weeks.

But Welfare Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy said that it is too early to say whether the figures indicate a turning point in the business recession here.

He said the full explanation for the change is a mystery.

McCarthy reported Sunday that the city's relief load rose only 1,600 in May, compared with a monthly average increase of more than 8,000 for the preceding five months.

He gave the figures on a TV program and in an interview later.

McCarthy said the decline in the rate of increase seemed to be continuing for the first weeks of June. He said the change was more than could be attributed to the normal springtime rise in employment.

The relief load now is 350,000, which is 60,000 above a year ago. Stephen Mayo, acting director of the division of employment of the State Labor Department, said "this is a very difficult job market for the new entrant into the labor market."

He said on a radio program "Let's Find Out" that high school and college graduates entering the labor market for the first time face "one of the roughest years for getting a job" since World War II.

Mayo advised students to continue their education "if it's worth while, if it's in pursuance of a career or a degree."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seaboard Western Constructors Inc. of Mineola, N. Y., has been awarded a federal contract for painting and repairing the post office and court house at Binghamton, N. Y.

Seaboard submitted a low bid of $31,300, the General Services Administration announced Sunday.

Green Dog Born

HARRISBURG, Ill. (AP)—John Jones had something to talk about when his bird dog gave birth to a litter of pups—one of them green.

All six other pups are white. A Marion doctor said an infection in the mother may have caused the green coloring of the pup but whether it will remain that way is not known.

Wiley, Keating Host 19 Student Actors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley (R - Wis) and Rep. Kenneth Keating (R - NY) were luncheon hosts today for 19 student actors at Catholic University who will make a 12-week tour of Latin-American countries.

The students will present "The Song of Bernadette" and three one-act plays during their trip.

The troupe was chosen by the American National Theatre and Academy, which makes recommendations to the State Department for overseas theatrical presentations.

Bagpipers Needed For Ellenville Festival Production

Anyone knowing six bagpipers should communicate with Frank Forest, managing director of the Ellenville Music Theatre.

These "pipers" are needed to round out the cast for the production "Brigadoon" which will hold the stage from July 8 for six evening performances and one matinee in the big tent of the Empire State Music Festival grounds at Ellenville.

Mr. Forest said yesterday that cast for all principal parts for "Brigadoon" have now been filled.

The lead parts of Tommy and Jeff are to be played by John Stratton and Ned Wertimer respectively.

The redheaded Scotswoman, Jet MacDonald, is to play Fione McLaren while Gene Hufelsen will be seen on stage as Jean McClaren.

Dick Parker, talented newcomer will fill the part of Archie Beaton.

The lovely songstress Sue Ann Langdon has been signed for "Meg Brockie." Will Kuluva will play Mr. Lundie in the "Brigadoon" cast.

Finally, Bob Simpson is in the part of Charley Dalrymple and Harry Beaton will be done by David Nicco.

A new stage has been erected in the Festival tent. A new lighting system suited to top Broadway production is being installed and new scenery is already under production for the opening of "The Most Happy Fella" which will be the feature attraction during the first week of the season at Ellenville.

The entire cast of some sixty members of the cast, chorus and dancers along with twenty-five members of the pit orchestra will arrive in Ellenville on June 24th for the scene rehearsals.

To house the large group Mr. Forest has contracted for quarters in one building of the Hotel Cathala.

Gov. Averell Harriman has been invited to be guest of Mr. Forest and Mayor Eugene Glusker for the opening performance of "The Most Happy Fella."

The subscription ticket discount prices will continue this week and tickets for all individual performances can now be obtained at the Ellenville Music Theatre box office at 80 Canal Street.

INVITED

ONLY TO THE CHURCH

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend's daughter was married recently and although many of us were not invited to the reception we did receive invitations to the church ceremony which we attended even though it was quite a distance for most of us to travel. However, we could not help but feel slighted and hurt because immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom and their parents left, not giving any of us the opportunity to wish them well. We could understand their leaving if everyone was going to the reception, but, since they weren't, wasn't this very inconsiderate to those who made a special effort to go to the church?

Answer: If most of the guests were invited to the church only and the reception limited to immediate families and nearest relatives, it would have been friendly, as well as proper, for the bride and groom to wait at the back of the church to receive the good wishes of the guests as they filed out.

A friend gives the bride away. Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been asked to give the daughter of a friend of ours away at her marriage. Her father is not living. He would like to know whether he should take his place beside me after giving the bride away or whether he should sit in the front pew beside the bride's mother?

Answer: In the situation you describe I think it would be best if he would take the seat beside the bride's mother.

Concerning Place Mats

Dear Mrs. Post: Does everything have to put on the place mats? I have some very lovely place mats that will not accommodate much more than the large dinner plate and silver.

Answer: Not at all necessary. In fact, glasses, bread-and-butter plates almost always are put beyond the place mats.

Details for the use of a service plate, finger bowls and place cards are included in leaflet E-30, "Table Settings and Service." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Strike at NY Museums, Zoos Is 3rd Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Animals at the Bronx Zoo pass another lonely day today as keepers and other maintenance men carry their strike into a third day.

The animals' quarters are clean because the strikers went through their own picket lines yesterday. The animals, they said, are not responsible for their argument with the city.

The workers claim they are paid less than they should be because the city classifies them improperly.

Beside the zoo, the strike has closed the Hayden Planetarium, the Aquarium at Coney Island, the Staten Island Zoo, the Metropolitan Museum of Art including the Cloisters, the American Museum of Natural History and the Brooklyn Museum.

Although skeleton staffs are on duty to look after the needs of the animals and fish, the strikers entered yesterday to make sure they were properly fed and cared for.

Health for All

Let Us Spray

There was a snake in the Garden of Eden, but no bugs and no weeds. Today we try to recreate Eden in our own backyards. Science has given us weapons to fight off the aphids and the thrip, the Japanese beetle, the dandelion and the purslane. But some of these weapons are two-edged swords, as dangerous to people as to their garden enemies.

Cases of poisoning from garden preparations are on the increase. Manufacturers warn us. Writers of garden advice warn us. Doctors warn us. It should be obvious that a chemical strong enough to kill poison ivy will harm a human being. But too many of us treat these powerful materials as if they were fly-whisks. Sometimes the results of carelessness may be only minor skin irritation, burning eyes, and upset stomach. But tragedies have happened.

All garden preparations should be kept where children can't get at them. Don't think you've done your best by putting them on a high shelf. They should be in a shed or cupboard that can be locked. Don't turn your back on them for a moment while using them outdoors. Don't spray or dust when anyone is near enough to catch any of the drift. It's surprising how much drift there is even on a day that seems windless to you. Don't use poisons on lawns where children and pets may tumble about at play. Wash out sprayers and mixing utensils after every use.

Perhaps the most valuable advice is to read. The folders and labels that come with garden chemicals are important. Read them carefully and then follow directions to the letter. If, in spite of your best efforts, trouble comes, call your doctor immediately.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by The Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John Street, Kingston.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Chamber Awaits State's Decision On Exposition

The fate of the "Saugerties on Parade" exposition planned by Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce for August 16 depending on the decision of the State Department of Traffic and Control to permit closing of six thoroughfares in the village center—may be heard at a meeting of the group Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Green Room of the Exchange Hotel.

Nat Aaron, chairman of the project, could not be reached for comment. However, John Lynker, a committee spokesman said, he had definite word that the proposal is under consideration at Albany.

Action Held Up

He indicated that there was a possibility that the Traffic and Control group's decision may come through before the meeting. No further action on the elaborate program to spur business in the area can be taken until approval has been granted.

The Chamber has requested permission to block off the main intersections of the village and by-pass all through traffic around the village center, he said. The village is ideally located to permit rerouting of through traffic. Both village and town governments have indicated that they would cooperate in the program if state permission is forthcoming.

Preliminary details about the project drafted by the "Do It Now" committee of the Chamber estimated the cost would be about $1,000.

The money would be raised by contributions from merchants and businesses.

Carnival Atmosphere

The committee would set up a carnival type atmosphere for the display of exhibits of local and area industries and businesses. A continuous giveaway feature would have for its grand prize a trip to Bermuda or another comparable prize. Each person entering the blocked off exposition area would receive a free coupon making them eligible for the thousands of dollars in awards to be made available. There would be no admission charge and nothing to buy.

Arrangements call for participation of drum corps, area dance bands and other guest entertainers. Plans are in the works to secure nationally known personalities or entertainers for guest appearances during the one-day event.

Four large New York City record manufacturers have tentatively agreed to send well known recording stars to make guest appearances.

Labor to Purchase Physician Care Despite Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor unions pledged today to spread the mass purchase of doctor care for workers despite growing objections from the medical profession.

Dr. Morris Brand of New York, president of the American Labor Health Assn., charged that objections from medical groups were "motivated largely by economic rather than ethical principles."

AMA Criticism

He referred to criticism from the American Medical Assn. and state and local medical societies that mass purchase of medical care interposes a third party between doctor and patient.

Dr. Brand, head of the Sidney Hillman Health Center of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, said in a statement prepared for the opening session of a two-day labor health conference: "Certain segments of the medical profession have been doing everything in their power to prevent the establishment of consumer and union sponsored prepaid group practice medical programs."

Coercion Charged

"Their activities take the form of coercion, social and professional ostracism, restrictive legislation and other overt and covert acts. These activities by the medical politicians have been increasing."

A reply to these charges is expected from the AMA at its San Francisco convention next week.

Dr. Warren F. Draper, executive medical officer of the United Mine Workers welfare fund, said in another prepared address that his program has realized substantial savings since it decided eight months ago to restrict its roster of acceptable physicians.

Sought to Retaliate

Dr. Draper said state medical societies in Colorado, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Kentucky have sought to retaliate against the Mine Workers fund for the steps it has taken to police fund expenditures.

But Dr. Draper insisted that "it is the right of all labor health services to control their own medical care program and they must insist on this right if the cost of medical care for their people is to be kept within reasonable bounds."

Disguise Artist Held for Thefts Up to $100,000

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A suave, good-looking man who boasts to the FBI of his prowess as a disguise artists, was held today on charges of illegally carrying $100,000 in furs, money and jewels stolen from a California millionaire.

The FBI says the glittering property was stolen last Wednesday night from the Beverly Hills home of wealthy Samuel Hayden, a real estate developer.

The loot was recovered soon after the capture of Larry H. Gunning, 35, in Buffalo Saturday. Two agents sighted Gunning in a car and, after a twisting, turning auto chase through downtown streets, forced him to halt.

They said he was a native of Buffalo who went to the West Coast in 1956.

Special Agent Wesley Grapp said the loot was found in a hotel room and in a locker at Buffalo Airport, where he said Gunning had checked it after flying from Los Angeles earlier in the day.

Gunning was charged with taking stolen goods across state lines and was ordered held in lieu of $30,000 bail.

Grapp said the FBI was looking for a second man wanted for the Hayden robbery.

Unable to Judge Danger, Child Welcomes Discipline

As Henry's mother lifted the baby out of the playpen, she called to him, "Get away from that ladder! You know what Daddy said about fooling around it!"

Henry obeyed. But when his mother and little brother had disappeared into the house, he went back to the ladder that leaned against the garage. After a moment he began to climb it.

If his parents had seen him poised on its third rung, they would have judged him to be what he appeared to be—a disobedient boy more confident in his own judgment of safety than in theirs.

This appearance of confidence would have been deceiving.

Why? Because Henry is 5 years old, and his experience of the world has so often confused danger and safety that he isn't sure at all of his judgments of them.

For instance, Henry's world is a place where a friend you like can suddenly give you a bad thing called "chicken pox." It's a place where unimaginable disaster can befall you for striking a match that your father strikes as safely as he lights a cigarette.

It's a place where a person named Santa Claus drives reindeer through the sky without falling down as other people would; where there's some sort of safety in letting Dr. Jones hurt you with the needle that administers your "shots." Bears in the zoo are dangerous, though the Jolly Bruins of your picture book are not. So as to ladders, who knows?

Stretching for the fourth rung, confident-appearing Henry was really thinking, "Maybe when I

Kathy Crosby Is Not Concerned Over Kidnap Plot

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bing Crosby's wife is back in town apparently unconcerned about all the fuss over a gaunt ex-convict's plot to kidnap her for $100,000 ransom.

"I haven't told Bing—he's salmon fishing off Alaska," said Mrs. Crosby, who arrived Sunday night from judging a beauty contest at Reno, Nev.

"But even if I could reach him," she added, "what is there to tell him?"

Meanwhile, the sheriff's office said Wilburn E. Davidson, 48, who admits hatching the plot with a partner, probably won't be prosecuted. Davidson said he abandoned the plan when he learned Mrs. Crosby was pregnant.

Probably Get Life

"Davidson probably is going to get life anyway because he has admitted his part in four robberies and two kidnappings with intent to commit robbery," said Detective Sgt. Jack Morris.

The plot to kidnap Mrs. Crosby was revealed Saturday by Davidson's niece Nicki Snow, 19. She told authorities in Seminole County, Okla., that Davidson and Eugene Kling, tried to get her to help them.

Davidson was arrested May 3 shortly after a suburban Lakewood supermarket was robbed of $25,000. Kling, 40, got away in another car, officers said, with $23,000 of the loot.

Miss Snow said Davidson wanted her to stay with Mrs. Crosby while the attractive brunette actress was a captive. Miss Snow said she told her uncle she wanted no part of the proposed crime.

Trapeze Artist Still Determined After Fall

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Determined Betty Pasco returned to her trapeze act at Pontchartrain Beach Sunday night despite a 40-foot fall the night before.

The pretty blonde aerialist fell when her foot slipped from a harness as she attempted a one-foot hang. Her husband, who was standing below, managed to catch her and break the fall. She suffered a bruised shoulder.

Mrs. Pasco didn't attempt the one-foot hang Sunday night.

Fire Damage $75,000 In Buffalo Warehouse

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $75,000 damage to a city-owned warehouse Saturday night.

The brick, two-story building near downtown Buffalo was used to store trucks and equipment. Damage to the contents accounted for most of the loss, firemen said. One fireman was injured slightly fighting the flames. The cause was not determined.

Two Are Believed Drowned as Boat Smashes Buoy

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Two men were believed drowned today when the 20-foot boat they were in smashed against a signal buoy in the Niagara River and sank.

Two other men in the outboard motor boat were rescued.

The crash occurred off nearby Grand Island near a small boat dock. Skin divers searched the water near the damaged buoy for the missing bodies.

In a hospital suffering from shock and exposure were Frank Kenney, 39, of Grand Island, and Bernard Nussen, 27, of North Tonawanda.

They were unable to give authorities a clear account of the accident or the names of their companions in the boat.

Residents in the area summoned the Coast Guard when they heard the two men crying for help.

Portland, Ore., will celebrate the 50th anniversary of its famed Rose Festival in June. In the "Grand Floral Parade" will be fifty flower-covered floats, each depicting one year from the last half century.

2 Bunts, Squeeze Play in Ninth Decide Contest

Staatsburg's undefeated Knickerbockers parlayed three bunts, one a squeeze play, into a ninth-inning rally to edge the Kingston Yankees, 4-3, Sunday in a New York-New Jersey league baseball game at Staatsburg.

The win was the third straight for the unbeaten Knicks. The Yankees, fresh off a sensational 14-inning tie with Poughkeepsie, again saw a balk figure largely in their defeat.

The Knicks wrapped it up in this incredible fashion in the bottom of the ninth: Jones singled to left and Jerry Davis, the Yankee flinger, batted him to second. Ruocco bunted and was safe when nobody covered first. Jones moved to third and stayed put while Ed Murphy dropped another bunt advancing Ruocco to second.

With Jim Lawson at the plate, Manager Walt Bentson ordered the squeeze play and Lawson dropped a beauty scoring Jones to break up the contest.

Davi Goes Route
Davi went the route for the Yankees to suffer his second straight setback. He permitted eight hits, struck out eight and walked six.

Carmen Donato and Jim Lawson shared the Knicks pitching, yielding seven hits. Only one of Kingston's runs was earned. The Knicks picked up a pair of interest tallies.

Of interest to Manager Sal Ciacio was Jack Schoenberger's emergence from his batting slump. The Manhattan collegian rapped a single and triple in four trips, but Mickey Burkoski continued in the depths of a miserable getaway, going 5 for 0.

The Yankees picked up a cheapie in the third when Al Beccaccio walked, went to second on a wild pitch, stole third and scored on a wild throw by the catcher.

Singles by Vito Palmeri and Lou Arrotta and Davi's walk loaded the bases with one out in the fourth, but Jay Hasbrouck rammed into a double play to end the threat.

Schoenberger tripled to right in the sixth and scored on a bobbie by Hess at shortstop. Richie Lease's long home run blast to deep center closed out the Yankee scoring in the seventh.

Haddix Leads Cincy 2 Wins Bengals Blank Yankees Twice

Blanks Chicago; Braves, Giants Add Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Harvey Haddix pitched his best game of the year for Cincinnati Sunday as the Redlegs swept a doubleheader from Chicago 7-0 and 4-2.

The little left-hander permitted only seven hits in the opener in pitching the team's third shutout in a span of five games. The double triumph gave Birdie Tebbetts' crew 11 victories in the last 16 games. They are in third position, 3½ games behind the league leading Milwaukee Braves.

Rally to Win
The Braves came from behind to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2 and retain their 1½ game advantage over the runner-up San Francisco Giants, who defeated Philadelphia 3-1. Three Pittsburgh home runs in one inning highlighted the Pirates' 12-1 rout of the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Phillips Beaten
Pete Whisenant paced the Redlegs' first game attack against the Cubs' Taylor Phillips, losing his first after four victories. Whisenant doubled home two runs in the seventh and hit a three-run homer in the ninth. Relievers Tom Acker and Johnny Klippstein halted several Cub threats in the second game after Cincinnati had scored two runs in each of the first two innings off loser Dick Drott.

Harry Hanebrink, a 169 hitting outfielder, smacked a two-run homer to feature a three-run ninth inning that earned the Braves their comeback victory over St. Louis. Reliever Don McMahon won his sixth against one defeat.

Worthington Wins
Al Worthington, making his first start since April 18, stopped the Phillies with eight hits as the Giants took the rubber game of the three-game series. The loser was Curt Simmons.

Pittsburgh's Frank Thomas, forced to leave in the fifth when he was hit on the hand by a pitched ball, boosted his league leading homer total to 20 and his RBI total to 61. X-rays showed no broken bones in Thomas' hand.

Newcombe dropped his sixth without a victory.

Hal Trosky Jr. Hurls No-Hitter

DES MOINES (AP) — Hal Trosky Jr., son of the former Cleveland Indian, pitched a no-hitter last night as Colorado Springs defeated Des Moines 6-0 in the second game of a Western League doubleheader.

Young Trosky walked one batter and hit another.

First Double Shutout Over NY In 11 Years

By The Associated Press
The suddenly snarling Detroit Tigers are the hottest team in the major leagues right now, but they continue to be the enigma of the baseball world.

How can one team be so futile under one manager and so ferocious under another? It's certainly not that Jack Tighe was a bad manager, or that Bill Norman, who succeeded Tighe a week ago, has been waving a magic wand.

Still, the figures are there. Under Tighe, the Tigers won 21 of 49 for a 42.9 percentage. With Norman, they've won six of seven, including a spectacular sweep of the four-game series from the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium.

Blanked Twice

Frank Lary and Jim Bunning did the pitching for Detroit Sunday as the Tigers shut out the American League leaders twice, 2-0 and 3-0. Ossie Virgil, Harvey Kuenn and Gail Harris drove in the key runs in the first double shutout the Yankees have suffered in 11 years.

Kansas City smacked Boston down in a double-header 17-6 and 9-4. Cleveland took two from Washington 5-3 and 4-2 and Chicago shut out Baltimore twice 3-0 and 4-0.

Not since Philadelphia's Carl Scheib and Dick Fowler hurled back-to-back shutouts on May 30, 1947, have two pitchers been able to blank the Yankees twice in one afternoon. Don Larsen (5-1) and Bob Turley (10-2) were the victims.

Crows and Eagles Win in Jaycee

The Crows smothered the Owls, 20-8 in the first game of a twin-bill in the Jaycee Little League Saturday afternoon. The Eagles won the nitecap, 7-4 over the Wrens.

The Crows smacked 16 hits against two Owls' pitchers. John Coffey had four of the hits, with Jim Moore getting three more. John Roberts had a triple.

Tom Clancy, the winner fanned 12 and gave up only three hits.

The summaries:

(first game)

Crows ..... 351 173—20

Owls ..... 020 240—8

Tom Clancy and Dynavon; Horton, Surhoff and Leventhal.

The Eagles scored six times in the first two innings and proceeded to down the Wrens, 7-4 in the second game of the doublebill.

Bruce Terwilliger went all the way. He gave up four hits and fanned 6. Jeff Sperling was touched for five hits, but set down 10 on strikes.

John Brown had two of the winning hits. Bob Chilson had two safeties for the Wrens.

The batteries:
Wrens ..... 002 200—4
Eagles ..... 240 100—7
Sperling and Werbalowsky; Terwilliger and Brown.

In the first World Series in 1903 each winning player received $1,182. In 1954 each member of the New York Giants getting a full share received $11,147.90.

President's Cup Play In 2 Ties at Wiltwyck

An oddity cropped up in the Wiltwyck Country Club's President's Cup competition over the weekend, when a tie occurred for first place in both the men's and women's divisions.

Bill Kaufman and Charles J. Turk finished in a deadlock with net 144s in the men's division. Mrs. Frank Prior and Mrs. Ivan Whitmore tied with net 170 in the women's division.

Kaufman had net rounds of 75 and 69 for the 36-hole competition. Turk fashioned rounds of 71 and 73 for his 144.

The ties will be decided in 18-hole playoffs, golf chairman John Burch has announced.

Rockland Nine Scores in Ninth To Win By 11-10

The glow of a six-run rally in the sixth which tied the score at 8-8 turned to ashes for the Saugerties Dutchmen, who surrendered an unearned run in the ninth and an 11-10 decision to Spring Valley in a New York-New Jersey League baseball game at the Rockland County diamond.

The Bengals pulled their league opener out of the fire in the last of the ninth when Ed Garabrant was safe on Don McCaig's error. Jim Mackey uncorked a wild pitch and Joe Doolio singled to center.

Doolio's hit broke up a long and harrowing afternoon. Clark Mains, the Saugerties starter, exited before the third inning was over — a rare occurrence. Jim Mackey finished up and between them they permitted 13 hits. Mackey also slugged a homer.

Saugerties collected 16 safeties off Clauser and Kaussanik, including three by Don Mormile, the Saugerties High School pitching-batting star. Mackey fanned nine during his stint.

Boo Schaffer pounded a double and single for Saugerties. Jim Martin, Miller and Mackey also had two hits. Don Whitaker belted a triple.

Duncan and Manager George Jacob collected three hits apiece for the winners.

Dodgers Wallop Tigers, 22 to 2

The Dodgers hit home plate 22 times in its game with the Tigers Saturday to romp to a 22-2 victory in the Town of Hurley Little League.

Paul Gruner gave up three hits in recording the victory. His matched jumped on Tony Morris and Bob Churchill for 12 hits.

Ken Beesmer and Bruce Craddock each slammed homers for the winners. Gruner fanned 10 and walked seven. Morris set four down on strikes and issued nine bases on balls.

Open Title Long Time Coming for Firery Tom Bolt

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
TULSA (AP)—It took a dozen years of playing professional golf to teach Tommy Bolt the meaning of the old saying about golf being a humbling game. Once he learned that lesson, Bolt, one of the game's most controversial figures, got "what I've always wanted"—the National Open championship.

He won the title on the sweltering Southern Hills course Saturday by playing the conservative, non-gambling kind of golf that lets the other fellow beat himself. He scored 71-71-69-71—283, three strokes over par.

Bolt likely will turn out to be the most colorful Open champion in recent years.

Bolt is 39, started on the golf tour after serving with the Army in Italy during World War II and won his first tournament in 1951.

Halfway through the tournament Bolt was just one stroke ahead of Gary Player, a 22-year-old pro from South Africa, and two ahead of Frank Stranahan, the Toledo strong man.

Player, who had shot the only sub par score of the first two rounds, faded a bit on the third round, then came back to hold second place with a final 287.

Stranahan shot himself out of it with a seven on the last hole in the morning. Gene Littler made a run at Bolt with a third round 67—the best of the tournament—but couldn't hold the pace. He wound up in fourth place at 290 while Julius Boros took third with a 289.

Ben Hogan's effort to win the Open for a fifth time again was frustrated, this time by a hand injury suffered in the first round. But his 10th place tie assured him of a chance to try again without qualifying.

Fink and Jensen Win Features at Rhinebeck Oval

Two drivers shared the limelight in Rhinebeck Raceway's 50 lap madcap feature Saturday night. Carl Fink, Albany took the feature and Hoppy Jansen, Waterbury, Conn. took the first half of the event.

On the start of the first feature, Russ Truelove, Waterbury, forged into the lead but could not thwart off the efforts of the "Flying Fink" who took the lead after eight laps.

A broken fuel pump forced Fink out of the event in the second lap. Skip Strubel won the sedan race.

Marjorie Lindsay Wins Trans Open

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., captured the Trans - Mississippi Women's golf title Saturday, defeating Andrea Cohn of Waterloo, Iowa, 8 and 6.

This was the second title for Miss Lindsay, who was runner-up in 1949 and 1952 and champion in 1950.

Hot Springs, Ark., was chosen as the site for the 1959 tournament at a meeting of association members Saturday.

Lehigh Soph Cops Net Title

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Lowell Latshaw of Lehigh, a sophomore skipped in the top 10 seedings, today holds the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis title after an all-Lehigh final.

Latshaw, using a strong serve and backhand, whipped teammate Will Scarlett 6-3, 6-1, 8-6 Saturday. Scarlett, who was graduated last Monday, was seeded fourth in the tourney.

Earlier, the two teamed to take the doubles from Joe Abrahamson and Art Merovick of Colgate, 6-2, 4-6, 11-9, 7-9, 6-2.

The sweep gave the Engineers the team title and the Tod Backe Intercollegiate Challenge Bowl. Lehigh netted 43 points to 19 for second-place Cornell. Host Colgate scored 17, Columbia 12 and Navy 6.

Raul Karman, a Cuban Davis Cup player now attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology, won the freshman singles. He routed Douglas Ganim of Bowling Green 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Morrill Hay and Roy Land of the University of Florida won the doubles title with a 6-4, 7-5 victory over MIT's Karman and Jack Klapper.

A Fishing Raft

WATONGA, Okla., (AP)—All rafts aren't the flimsy kind. Leonard Shipman built one for fishing. It is rigged with a sun deck, comfortable chairs, and a motor to push it around.

Kingston Bowling Ace Raps 208 Average; Phil Versace Finishes 4th

By Tony Corapi
Freeman Sports Staff

Jerry Oster is the happiest guy in the world today. The 21-year-old Kingston kegger won the New York State Bowling Proprietors Association scratch match game championship at Ferraro's Bowlerama over the weekend with a 32-game total of 6,684 pins.

It was the first major championship for the pin star who this past season captured the Hudson Valley individual average title with an average of a fraction under 200.

Oster's courage and determination against some of the state's best bowlers were a contributing factor to his achievement. He was in there pitching from the start and bowled well throughout the four blocks of eight games each. He averaged 208.

$500 First Prize

The championship was worth $500, a gigantic bowling trophy and a paid up entry to the All-Star Bowling tournament in Buffalo next year.

Ludy Villani of Niagara Falls, a door manufacturer, finished second with a pin total of 6,532 and 2.1 Petersen Points less than the Kingston ace. Flam Guido of Utica, was third; Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie, fourth, and Johnny Walther of Troy, fifth.

Oster took the lead after the second block Saturday night with a blistering 1759 for the eight games. In that block he rolled back to back games of 279 and 278, the tourney's highest singles and also the biggest block score of the two-day event.

Lead at Half

He went into the third round with a lead of 2.85 Petersen Points. Villani and Guido trailed in the position they finished. Versace overtook Walther in the position round for fourth place.

Frank Santore of Manhattan, three times ABC champion, finished behind Walther. Santore got off to a weak start and didn't begin to find himself until the Sunday rounds. The same goes for Walther and Versace.

The Poughkeepsie hot shot would undoubtedly have been among the first three save for a poor second round Saturday night.

Poor Second Round

He rolled successive games of 159, 175, 148 and 164 to keep his score down to 1476. A little improvement there and the Dutchess ace would have been pushing Oster.

However, Oster and Villani didn't have any lapses. They were consistent throughout. Going into the position round, Oster had the championship virtually sewed up with a lead of 3.85. It is a good thing he did since Villani, considered by many as the best bowler in the event, trimmed Oster twice with games of 223-223 against Jerry's 214 and 198. In the previous meeting between the two, Villani also scored two victories. Oster rolled his lowest scores in those two games, 178 and 172.

Fourth place was worth $400 to Villani; $300 to Flam, and $200 to Versace. Walther received $175; Santore $160, and Ken Campbell $145. The other keglers received $5 less with $100 for 16th place.

The trophy presentation to Oster was made by Mickey Hamalak, president of the association. A trophy for second place also went to Villani.

The Boston Red Sox last won an American League pennant in 1946. They last finished second in 1949.

Warm Weather Is Predicted for Midweek Period

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today, to 7 p. m. Saturday:

Eastern New York—Cool weather will continue at the beginning, and at the end of the week, with a warm period at midweek. Temperatures are expected to average 4 to 6 degrees below normal. Dry, with low humidity at the beginning, risk of a shower period about midweek, probably about Wednesday night or Thursday. Total rainfall ½ inch or less.

Western New York—A cool period is indicated as temperatures average several degrees below normal. Fair and slowly rising temperatures Tuesday and Wednesday. Rain likely about Thursday. Showers, cooler Friday, clearing Saturday. Around ½ inch of rain is likely.

Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from early morning lows in the 50s to afternoon highs in the 70s and around 80.

Timid Alma Spent Typhoon in Texas

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Alma, the timid typhoon, ripped to her demise in the lower Rio Grande Valley areas of Texas and Mexico today.

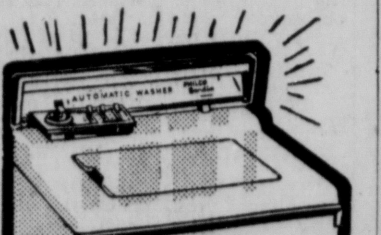

The tropical storm, first of the hurricane season, did not pack the punch of storms striking the Gulf of Mexico area in previous years. One death was blamed on high waves churned up by the storm. The victim was A. E. Wilson, 29, of Houston. He drowned Sunday day while swimming on Galveston Beach.

No damage was reported after Alma whipped in from the Gulf and smashed into Mexico just south of the Rio Grande with winds up to 50 miles an hour.

He'll Keep Trying

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Carl Lullen, 37-year-old widower from Sligo, Ky., recently advertised in newspapers for a wife. He got only three answers and none suited him, mainly because the women who answered were too old.

But, undaunted, Lullen says he'll keep trying because he needs a wife "to housekeep for me and my two kids."

De Gaulle Will Confer This Month With Macmillan

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle will confer with British Prime Minister Macmillan before the end of this month.

Official sources said no precise date has yet been set for the meeting, but June 27 is mentioned frequently.

It will be De Gaulle's first meeting with a top leader of the Western Alliance since taking office. It will precede by about a week his scheduled talks with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles July 5.

Although the general has pledged his allegiance to the Western Alliance, it is understood he foresees a more independent role for France within it.

Salan Takes Over

De Gaulle returned today from a country weekend to find his desk piled high with North African problems.

De Gaulle's designated representative in North Africa, Gen. Raoul Salan, officially took over the resident minister's office in the Algiers government headquarters building today. But informed sources said De Gaulle was planning a second trip to Algeria within the next month to tighten his authority there.

The Premier designated Salan civil and military governor during his trip two weeks ago. De Gaulle's presence in Algeria put the lid on the army and right-wingers who staged the May 13 revolt against the Paris regime but the Premier's authority over the dissidents is still questionable.

Algeria's two neighbors, Morocco and Tunisia, were also posing problems for the 67-year-old premier.

To Sign Treaty

President Habib Bourguiba met in Tunis with Moroccan foreign Minister Ahmed Balafout. Officially they met to sign a friendship treaty. But the political leader of the Algerian nationalist rebels, Ferhat Abbas, also headed for Tunis, to be available to discuss the nationalist war against the French in Algeria.

In Morocco, the French were negotiating the withdrawal of some of their soldiers — which Tunisia also wants.

The war in Algeria continued with no sign of a letup.

Sukarno Regime Sets Attack on Rebel Areas

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno's government launched a full-scale land, sea and air attack in the North Celebes today to crush the last major stronghold of the four-month-old rebellion.

The Indonesian navy said the invasion force landed at daybreak 20 miles from Manado, the North Celebes rebel capital.

The government strategy apparently was to seal off the tip of the 20-mile-wide North Celebes peninsula for a final assault on the volcano-ringed seaport.

Tito, Soviets Swap Broadides on U.S. Aid

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito and the Soviet bloc swapped broadsides Sunday. Tito defended his acceptance of U.S. aid, and Peiping radio compared him with Judas Iscariot for taking the American help.

Tito asked a crowd of 50,000 in the coal mining town of Labin what right Nikita Khrushchev had to attack Yugoslavia for getting U.S. aid when the Soviet Premier himself was soliciting credit from Washington.

Auto Contract Talks Resume

DETROIT (AP)—Contract talks were back on tap in the auto industry today but without any sign which way they might be going.

Ford and General Motors were due to meet with the United Auto Workers today. Chrysler talks resume Tuesday.

This is the start of the third no-contract week since expiration of the UAW agreements with the Big Three and the impasse seems still unyielding.

None of the principals has given a hint of progress.

The UAW has gone ahead with the formality of strike votes among its locals at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. The union says so far the vote has been 10-1 in favor of a strike at GM.

Pool Fatal to Boy

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP)—A 6-year-old boy's curious inspection of a steaming pool of water near Old Faithful geyser led to death.

Danny Lewis of Austin, Minn., lost his balance and fell into the natural formation Friday. He died Sunday of second and third degree burns over his entire body.

The terrain of Long Island is generally flat and low.

Humphrey Urges Modern Foreign Economic Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D - Minn.) called today for a new U. S. foreign economic policy, to replace one he said "is geared to the needs of 1938."

He said a Rockefeller report made public Sunday night offered "a grand design" for a new policy to meet the needs of a modern world in which "newly independent, underdeveloped nations 'will play a vital role.'"

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) agreed that the report points up a need for policy changes. But he said it should have placed more emphasis on what he called "the major target" of higher wages for foreign workers to increase their purchasing power.

The report, the third of a series by the special studies project of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund Inc., among other things called for:

1. Making the reciprocal trade agreements program "a permanent part of our national policy" with new discretion to the President to allow for consideration of broad domestic and foreign policy interests.
2. Long-term, low-interest rate loans, plus tax incentives, to induce private enterprise to increase its investment in the development of underdeveloped nations in coordination with government activities in this field.
3. Encouragement of regional structures aimed at the progressive elimination of trade barriers.
4. International agreements to halt sharp price fluctuations in exports.

Few N. Y. Places Win In Car Safety Contest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only a handful of New York communities won recognition from the American Automobile Assn. in its contest to see who accomplished the most in saving pedestrian lives during 1957.

They were Rochester, 200,000 to 500,000 class; Mt. Vernon, 50,000 to 100,000; Rockville Centre, 25,000 to 50,000; Malverne, 10,000 to 25,000, and Larchmont, under 10,000.

Niagara Falls and Yonkers won special citations for low casualty records among the 100,000 to 200,000 group; Elmira and New Rochelle, in the 50,000 to 100,000 class, were cited for no pedestrian deaths during the year; and Endicott and Rye were cited for improvement in program activities in the 10,000 to 25,000 class.
